

Public Enjoys Art People Party But Merchants Cast Loud 'No' Vote

A roar of "No!" came from Princeton merchants this week after last Saturday's third — annual? — Art People Party.

A petition of 87 signatures in opposition was presented Tuesday night to Borough Council. Among the signatories was Fred Blaicher, President of Palmer Square, Inc., and according to Thomas Brophy, who organized the protest, everybody on Witherspoon, Palmer Square and the neighboring reaches of Nassau Street signed except the food and restaurant people, most of whom apparently had a wonderful day.

The petition says its signers are opposed to having the Party on a Saturday, and in its present location. "Based on our experience with the past three Earth Days (sic), it has a negative effect on our business." ("Earth Day" was a single event in 1971. It has not been repeated. This year was the third Art People Party.)

Mr. Brophy, who was chief spokesman before Council, emphasized that he and his allied merchants are not opposed to the Party as such, only to the "where" and "when."

"Why not have it Sunday?" Mr.

Brophy asked. "Or somewhere else?"

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, who said he was "very enthusiastic" about Saturday's all-day affair, told his Tuesday press conference he was surprised at the merchants' opposition because most of the Witherspoon Street shop-owners he talked to on Saturday "seemed to think it was all right."

He quoted one merchant as saying "Sure, maybe business was off some, but it was great, anyhow."

Sunday would be a difficult day, the mayor explained, because there could not be a following "rain day," and he added, at his press conference, "I would NOT favor moving the location."

"I am opposed to the element attracted here by the Party," Mr. Brophy told Council, "and traffic tie-up was very bad. Havoc and filth — it was Englishtown re-visited." Englishtown is a well-known "flea market."

Mr. Brophy questioned the legality of offering arts and crafts for sale without requiring a state sales tax, and he asked why the Arts Council had imported a hot-dog vendor instead of lining up one of the nearby restaurants.

"Merchants in this town are taken for granted," he complained, "like a 9-5 faucet you turn on and off. Do you know the square-foot rental we pay?"

Mayor Cawley said a Chamber of Commerce survey had shown a majority of Witherspoon Street merchants in favor of closing that street again this year—why the change? (Philetus Holt, Arts Council president who ran the party, said earlier Tuesday that the survey showed 60 percent of the merchants in favor, a figure which surprised him because he thought it would be exactly the opposite.)

The survey was wrong, Mr. Brophy declared, but Mrs. Kathleen Edwards defended its accuracy, explaining to Council that Jack Yeoman of the Chamber had

Township Looks at Future with 6-Year, $5.2 Million Capital Budget

A six-year capital budget of $5.2 million, including a 1973 allotment of $552,500, was approved Monday night for the Township by Township Committee.

It isn't binding, emphasized Committeeman Abbot Low Moffat, "Frankly," he said, "it's an experiment rather than a carefully considered document, but we hope it can be a guide."

Committee colleagues protested Mr. Moffat's modesty—he was chief architect of the budget—and said they thought the nine pages of accounting work was indeed a "carefully considered document!"

Each year, the state asks municipalities to hunk out these capital budgets, and each year the governing body has to explain that it's really just a Christmas list, and not anything legally binding. (For example, the Borough has been including parking garages in its capital budgets for many years.)

Invever, the Township's six year projection is new for the municipality, Mr. Moffat reminded the audience and Committee, and Mayor Jay Blizman praised the budget as a useful "departure point."

Highlights:

Sewers: "Top priority" goes to Princeton's sewer problems. The Township allots to sewers $2.1 million, including $1.2 million to stop infiltration and improve the sewage treatment plant.

Mr. Moffat points out that curbing infiltration is not only required by the state, it is an economic necessity; charges from the future Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority will be based on metered water usage. Idle water seeping where it shouldn't, is like gold being washed down a drain. For this year, the budget proposes an outlay of $207,000, so that work can start at once on infiltration in the Hillside sewer system and so the Township and Borough can start to buy equipment and material for preliminary exploratory work.

The budget also earmarks for 1973 the PCH sewer, Autumn Hill Drive's western part and Random Road.

For the years '74 to '78, the Township proposes new sewer lines for Greenhouse Drive, the Lawrenceville Road, Heather Lane, Cherry Valley

Open Space: This year, the Township has a chance to buy 30 of the 80 acres that constitute Woodfield Reservation. At present, the Township pays $1 a year for Woodfield to Mrs. Lydia Poe, with the option of buying Woodfield after Mrs. Poe's death. However, Mrs. Poe has indicated that she is willing now to sell 30 acres — it is not yet known which 30 — of the tract.

Township calculations allot $155,000 to this purchase. "Green Acres" money from the state would pay about $75,000 and the Township anticipates that the Borough will join in paying for the rest.

Additional purchases, maybe for the rest of Woodfield, would come to $350,000 over the next years, the budget calculates.

Library: A third floor addition to the Public Library building is blocked in for 1973 at a cost of $400,000. The Township's share would be $260,000.

Sidewalks, Bike Paths: "We do not feel the Township can afford to embark at this time on an ambitious experimental program of bicycle paths built primarily for recreation," the report says, regretfully.

However, it recommends a re-examination of the Township's sidewalk Master Plan; why not build cheaper, wider asphalt walks instead of the narrow concrete ones, and thereby provide both bike ways and walk ways? (And maybe save money on school busing because more children could bike to school.)

The six-year cost of such a program is an estimated $245,000 with $35,000 suggested for this year.

east from Heather (to be shared with Montgomery Township) and Drakes Corner Road, west from The Great Road.

New sewer lines were down for $942,000 (payable through assessments) and treatment of existing lines, for $1,170,000. The budget points out that these are overall cost figures, to be shared with the Borough.

Roads: Three links in the Terhune Loop Road system are sketched out for the next six years: from Johnson Park School to Winfield Road; Snowden Lane to Bertrand Drive and from Terhune's present ending near Concord Lane, to Route 27.

Changes in the Master Plan relating to housing, or decisions by the Princeton Regional Schools to build new schools would change any long range land planning found that all but three of the Witherspoon merchants were in favor.

After a lengthy series of complaints, in which Mr. Brophy said his Palmer Square shoe store usually did two-to-five times its weekday business on Saturdays, and had lost business on May 5, and other merchants protested that art and crafts workers "cluttered up the sidewalks, and did they have Borough permits?", Borough Council member Barbara Sigmund commented.
"It amazes me that merchants don't take advantage of these people who come to town," and Jan Schneider, from the audience, asked, "Why not use the Art People Party for merchandizing and promotional devices, run sales perhaps? There is room for a lot of imagination here," and someone pointed out that The Grotto, Witherspoon Street Italian restaurant, sold varieties of Italian sandwiches outside on the Street.
"Plan your sales for that day," said one audience member. "Don't be so stuffy you can't change."

asked why such a street fair seemed to work very well indeed for merchants in other places—Monterey, California, and New York City, as examples—and not here?
"Because I sell white bucks," Mr. Brophy retorted. "I sell more than anybody on the eastern seaboard because that's what Princeton people like to buy! This is a unique town!"
A sharp, and sometimes bristling exchange then occurred between Mr. Brophy and two or three members of the audience who said Princeton stores were only for the affluent.

Party, said there seemed to be a lack of communication between merchants and the Chamber of Commerce. (One merchant said earlier that the Chamber is chiefly interested in the "area" and its big firms, and cares little for the local shop-owner.)
Mr. Ford said the Council would like to regulate what is sold at next year's Party and who sells it, so that the flea-market atmosphere may be diminished. He, and other speakers spoke a new note of cooperation between merchants and Council in planning next year's Party, a note which hadn't been sounded before, apparently in the belief that the Chamber spoke for the merchant.
"We must include merchants in next year's planning," said Councilman Robert Powell, "but the town does NOT belong to the merchants or to the special interests—one day in 365, one small street opened to pedestrians—it was terrific, and it should be encouraged."
"It seemed to me on Saturday," observed Mayor Cawley, "that everyone I saw was smiling. I like to think some of those smiles were converted into business. The Arts Council would love some help—I hope next year we can work together."

The dialogue, in which everybody interrupted everybody frequently and with vehemence, swung widely in the hour or so of its course, touching on both the New York Giants and the Princeton Medical Center's June Fete.
"Businessmen in town told me they wanted the Giants here—it would bring flocks of people to the stores," Mr. Lombardo said.
"I wish the Hospital Fete wasn't on a Saturday—it takes people away from town—but at least it's not in town."

MOTHER AND CHILD by Georg Jensen

Georg Jensen, famed in collector's circles for its annual Christmas Plate, proudly announces the first issue of its Mother's Day. Made in Copenhagen, the plate depicts mother and child and captures a timeless theme of maternal love and understanding. Pure Danish in design, the Georg Jensen plate is meticulously crafted and hand painted in the traditionally Danish tones of cobalt blue. Each plate is a miniature piece of art on porcelain carved in bas-relief and color underglazed. The plate is 6 3/4" in diameter and is pierced for hanging. It is individually packaged in an attractive silver-tone gift box. $15.00. The 1973 Georg Jensen Mother's Day plate, like the highly desired Christmas plate, will be made for just one year and dated accordingly.

Under the swooping brim of a (bright pink!) hat is Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, whose idea it was to close the Square. Council member Barbara Sigmund is at the far left. ## TOPICS Of The Town

TAKE A WALK ON ELM
Probably on Asphalt. An early summer re-run of last month's Borough Council meeting brought out Elm Road and Allison Road residents once again Tuesday night to talk about sidewalks, and drainage, or lack of it. Before the commercials (see "Cover"), Council had passed, 5-1, the ordinance requiring walks on Elm. An amendment allowing asphalt as an alternative to concrete passed only because Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley cast the tie-breaking vote.

Council members Joseph P. Moore, Thomas Cawley and Robert Powell want concrete walks. Council members Barbara Sigmund, Arthur P. Morgan and Martin P. Lombardo like asphalt. Mayor Cawley likes asphalt, too.

Mr. Lombardo, in fact, doesn't like the whole ordinance, and cast the "no" vote.

"The whole plan is inadequate," he said.

Sartiated Subject. "We've had more research and discussion on these sidewalks and on the neighborhood's drainage problems than on many, larger issues," Mr. Powell observed, after he'd heard all last month's stories of poor drainage, and arguments about how walks spoil a semi-rural area and how sidewalks are needed as a safety measure.

Garrett Heher, who lives on Elm, has been talking with Clark and Rapuano, landscape consultants. Their man suggests a "stabilized earth" sidewalk, one-quarter as expensive as concrete and, Mr. Heher thinks, a lot better.

Merced County, lease lord and owner of Elm Road, says no. Only concrete. Also, the county has the say about how close the walk should be to the property line. The closer the better, county engineers say, to allow maximum safety from Elm traffic.

"Stabilized earth" is no good, said Borough Engineer Donald Harney. It turns to mud in rainy weather and is a poor surface for wheels—baby carriages or bikes. Asphalt is expensive to maintain, compared to concrete.

Drainage in the area, nonexistent in many cases, can be helped if curbs are installed along Elm, Mr. Harney advised. Many residents implored Council to take care of drainage before bothering about walks.

In other matters, Council honored Ira H. Miller for 25 years of service with the Borough and presented him with a gift, and set aside May as "Senior Citizens Month."

SENATOR PROMISES HELP

In Housing, Senator Clifford P. Case has promised he will urge HUD officials in Camden to join Princeton Township in a site-plan survey of the Yedlin public housing land on State Road, and the Princeton Housing Authority has been informed that a representative of HUD will be in Princeton this week to inspect the site.

Mayor Jay Bleiman announced these events to Township Committee Monday night. Last month, responding to residents opposed to the project, HUD (the Federal Housing and Urban Development Agency) announced it was requiring major environmental studies of the Yedlin area. Normally these surveys are done only for large-scale projects like airports, prisons or highways.

Mayor Bleiman said he had written HUD's Washington office, has received a reply, and has given full details about the Yedlin project.

"I pointed out that Mr. Yedlin himself hasn't been through the Township's site-plan machinery," the mayor said, "and I urged that the Camden office combine forces with us. I made the same point to Camden. The Washington man said it seemed reasonable."

(The next night, Tuesday, during Borough Council's meeting, two Council members urged Princeton residents to write their support of the Yedlin project.

"It is sad to think a few people can stand in the way of those who are in need," said Martin P. Lombardo. "We should write the director of HUD asking the agency to fulfill its commitment without delay," said Barbara Sigmund.)

After Mayor Bleiman had made his report Monday night, Len Newton, 90 Dempsey Avenue, rose from the audience and gave a chronological account of his 10 years of effort in housing in Princeton.

He challenged local governing bodies to take the initiative to bring low and middle-income housing into the community.

"I really question the ability of local government to meet its people's needs," he challenged, "because some citizens object, they can use their influence to get a delay! You cannot allow a minority view to keep this housing from reality."

When Mayor Bleiman asked what he'd suggest, Mr. Newton proposed financing Mr. Yedlin's site-plan appearance. "For $10,000, he can go the site-plan route," Mr. Newton said. "You on Township Committee pay for it, if the Federal government won't. Underwrite it! I think this is really a matter of whether you have the will."

SEWER TAX UPPED $15

By Township Committee. Every Township householder will pay an additional $15 a year sewer tax as the result of an ordinance passed Monday by Township Committee.

The new $15 fee applies to everyone. It is based on the 15,000 cubic feet of metered water which the Princeton Water Company estimates is the amount used annually in the average home. Big users, who exceed that amount, will pay $3 per additional 1,000

The increase is the first since May, 1968, and it will meet increased sewer operating costs. Anticipated costs are $181,129 reported Administrator Joseph R. Nini Monday night, and estimated income of $138,502.

Committeeman Abbot Low Moffat abstained in the 40 vote. He told the audience that because his property on Pheasant Hill Road and others in that area, had been initially subject to higher sewer taxes at the time of development, he actually stood to gain from the new measure and would pay less in sewer tax.

Harris Barnett, from the audience, protested the metered-water flow method of calculation. A large family, he suggested, wouldn't pay its fair share. Helen Fairbanks agreed, pointing out that the tax penalized householders living alone.

Mr. Nini reported that the state will indeed treat Wood field Reservation gypsy moths with fatal bacilli preparations rather than chemical spray. Two other areas in the municipality will, however, be sprayed and residents will be told when spraying will start. The bacilli treatment is experimental, and therefore will be done without charge to the Township, Mr. Nini explained. Rusty Scupper patrons may park in an off-site lot when they visit the new Alexander Street restaurant. Committee unanimously approved the Zoning Board's recommendation that the Scupper be allowed to lay out 55 more parking spaces in adjacent land to be leased from the University and the Penn Central.

The state, however, must still harmonize two sets of map lines thereby establishing Minutes of the meetings, ordinances as introduced, the budget, capital budget and various related Township documents will be deposited from now on in the Princeton Public Library and the governmental documents room at the University's Firestone Library, to provide a little light reading for Princeton residents.

Free screening for hypertension will be offered at a Township Board of Health booth at the Medical Center's June Fete, announced Committee member Barbara Smoyer. An unnamed pharmaceutical firm is the sponsor, she said.

CARPI TRIAL DELAYED

No New Date Set. The murder trial of Colin C. Carpi of Princeton on charges dating back to February, 1971, was postponed this week by Superior Court Judge Arthur A. Salvatore. It had been scheduled to start in Trenton on Monday.

A conflict in the court schedule was cited by Judge Salvatore as the reason. Monday's date proved to be in conflict with the opening of the trial of two Atlantic County magistrates, who were indicted earlier this year. Judge Salvatore said that a new date will be set when it can be determined how long the magistrates' trial will last.

The 40-year-old Mr. Carpi has been accused of the murder of his estranged wife, Laura, 37, who disappeared from her home at 213 State Road on February 8, 1971. Three months later, her body was found in the East River, in New York.

Mr. Carpi, whose home is at 148 Fairway Drive, has been charged with shooting his wife and disposing of her body in the river. His attorney is Gerald Stockman; the prosecuting attorney will be Bruce M. Schragger.

SCHLUTER BACKS TAMS

For County Judge Slot. Sen. William E. Schluter has cleared the way for Theodore T. Tams Jr. to become a Mercer County Judge, announcing he is "perfectly satisfied" with the Borough and Township Magistrate's qualifications.

Sen. Schluter had briefly delayed his support for Judge Tams, saying he needed time to review the nomination. Judge Tams will probably be confirmed for the $37,000 a year post at a special Senate session after the June primary. He would succeed Arthur Salvatore who was elevated to the State Superior Court.

PAY RAISES RATIFIED

By Borough, Township Police. Without fanfare, Borough and Township police members have ratified 1973 pay contracts, according to Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association 130 which has been negotiating with Borough and Township officials on a new contract since December.

Police received a salary increase of $750, or an effective increase of around 6%. Maximum salary for a patrolman in the two departments will be $12,750.

Ptl. Lenhardt also reported that West Windsor Township police have "reached an agreement on the negotiating table" that is similar to the one agreed to by the Princeton police.

Police salaries are negotiated every year by the PBA.

the tennis courts adjacent to the railway station around 11 p.m. when he was approached by seven or eight black youths. They surrounded him without comment and started to go through his pockets.

"We're not kidding," said one, while another held a switchblade knife against the left side of his neck. The victim told police they asked for money and when he was unable to produce any they fled taking with them his cigarettes and some loose change.

The victim was later treated at McCosh Infirmary on campus for a laceration of the left hand and a slight scratch on his neck. Sgt. Thomas Procaccino investigated.

STUDENT IS CHARGED
With Marijuana Possession. A Princeton University student has been charged by police with possession of marijuana.

Perry C. Evans, 18, Princeton Inn College, has been charged by Borough police with possession of under 25 grams of the drug and by Township police with over 25 grams.

A University proctor called Borough police Friday evening to report they had found a pound of marijuana while searching Mr. Evans' room with his consent in connection with a search for a stolen camera case.

He was taken to Borough headquarters, where police, during a search, allegedly uncovered a marijuana cigarette in his possession. Since the discovery of the alleged pound of marijuana occurred in the Township portion of the Inn, Mr. Evans was then turned over to Ptl. Anthony Gaylord of the Township after being charged by Det. Timothy Tluizing of the Borough.

PLANNERS: Members of the Planned Parenthood Association of the Mercer area, are planning their annual dinner meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, May 22, at the Treadway Inn on Route One. The speaker will be the Rev. Carl D. Reimers, Princeton Day School faculty member shown here, whose theme will be "Let the Students Plan Sex Education." Mrs. David L. Frothingham (left) and Mrs. Amos Eno are co-chairmen of the event. Tickets, at $7.50 each, may be reserved by calling 599-4881.

BUMPER, LIGHT STOLEN
From Parked Mercedes. Proof that thieves will steal anything was illustrated this week with the report of Clyde D. Knapp, 301 Cherry Valley Road.

He told Borough police that while his Mercedes was parked between 8.15 and midnight Saturday in the PML lot off Hulfish Street, someone removed the front bumper headlight and license plate from his car.

In other thefts, Sarah Wright, 4 Hawthorne Avenue, reported her flute and case valued at $200 stolen from a locked instrument room at Princeton High School; Silvester Welzenburger, 871 Mount Lucas Road, listed the theft of a tape deck and five tapes worth $85 from his car while it was parked a few minutes last week in front of Princeton Motor Parts, 100 Witherspoon Street; and Marie Nurko of Robbinsville, a nurse, reported losing $90 when her purse was taken Saturday from a shelf behind a counter in the emergency room at the Princeton Medical Center.

MOTOR BADLY DAMAGED
In Ambulance Fire. The motor of a Kingston First Aid Squad ambulance was extensively damaged when it caught fire Monday afternoon at the Princeton Medical Center.

Police said the ambulance had been backed up to a front door when its wiring apparently caught fire. Ptl. William Potts at the Township and Ptl. William Hunter and Ptl. Victor Fasanella of the Borough responded to a call for aid. The officers in turn requested two fire trucks which put out the blaze.

The ambulance, a 1972 Cadillac, had to be towed away.

PASSENGER INJURED
In Kingston Road Crash. Linda B. Richardson, 25, of Kendall Park was treated at Princeton Medical Center for minor injuries involving her hand, finger, nose and knee which she sustained Friday evening when the car in which she was riding was involved in an accident at Princeton-Kingston Road and Riverside Drive.

The entire front end of the small foreign car in which she was riding was damaged. The driver was Bonham C. Richardson, 33, of Kendall Park.

Ptl. Anthony Gaylord charged the second driver, Peter Bonette, 17, 59 Meadowbrook Drive, with failing to yield to the Richardson car that was traveling west on the Princeton-Kingston Road.

David Kimmel, 19, 1 Harrison Lane, Princeton Junction, was ticketed for careless driving by Ptl. Ronald Holliday after a mishap Sunday morning at 2:42 on Washington Road.

Mr. Kimmel told the officer that he had turned too wide coming off Nassau Street and when he tried to adjust, his car hit some gravel and he lost control. It skidded across the opposite lane, jumped the curb, knocked down a street light, continued across the sidewalk and struck a tree. Mr. Kimmel escaped injury.

Pedestrian Struck Roberla R. Filipek, 22, 31 Bank Street, sustained abrasions and contusions of the lower right side when she was struck by a car last Tuesday evening as she was crossing Chambers Street with a companion. She was treated at the Medical Center.

The driver, Persis R. Jones, 27, of Trenton, was issued a summons by Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt for failure to yield to a pedestrian. She told the officer she did not see the couple until they were in front of her car. It had been raining a short time before the accident and the roadway was slippery. Ptl. Lenhardt noted in his report.

ASSAULTS THREE POLICE
Township Youth Charged. A kicking, spitting cursing 14-year-old Township youth has been charged by Township police with assaulting three police officers, he faces two counts of assault and battery and resisting arrest.

The incident took place around 10 Thursday night at the John Witherspoon School following a concert. According to police, the youth entered a room and started using foul language at one of the teachers. When a custodian tried to intervene, he hurled a chair at him, which, police said, the man was able to fend off with a wastebasket.

When Sgt. Michael Kopliner and Patrolmen William Potts and Mario Musso arrived after a call from a school official, the youth continued to curse at the officers and struggle as they attempted to place him in a patrol car.

Sgt. Kopliner was kicked in the head, Ptl. Potts in the right knee and Ptl. Musso in the right shin, sustaining bruises and scratches. Police said that the youth spit at the officers and continued to fight as they transported him to headquarters.

There he was processed by Township juvenile officer Anthony Pinelli and later taken to the Mercer County Youth Shelter in Trenton. The youth allegedly smelled of alcohol, police said.

In Borough Court Monday, Judge Tams fined Mark Ellsworth, 18, Millstone Road, Princeton Junction, and Mary

Eve Miller to Retire from Nursery School
 Eve Miller is retiring from the Princeton Nursery School. Sounds as preposterous as re-locating the Rack of Gibraltar, but it's true. On November 1, after 37 years as director of the school, she will leave her apartment in the Leigh Avenue Nursery School building and move back to her native village of Lyons, New York.
 There, to no one's surprise, she will immediately become a volunteer in a school for retarded children, and will run a story-hour at the village library, because.
 "I couldn't live without kids, you know!"

"If I had my life to live over, I'd do exactly the same thing, right here at the Princeton Nursery School," she says, with the verve, zest and zing that have warmed the small souls of boys and girls for almost four decades.
 "It has been a marvellous, marvellous 37 years," says Mrs. William Sword, president of the Nursery School's board of trustees.
 With Mrs. Mark Munn, the trustees' personnel chairman, Miss Miller is interviewing people to find a possible successor. Is such a thing possible? A successor? To Eve Miller?

A. Franzy, 48, 22 Edgehill St., $18 and $15 for speeding.

TO SUE UNIVERSITY
 For $1.5 Million. A civil suit in which a Princeton resident will seek $1.5 million from Princeton University in punitive damages, charging defamation and breach of contract, was filed Monday in Superior Court.
 Lawrence Lavernoch, 9 Park Place, bases his suit on civil conspiracy, charging the University with violating its rules in regard to him and others in the now disbanded Slavic Department.

Mr. Lavernoch, a 1953 graduate of Harvard with honors in the Slavic Department, came to the University in 1967 as a doctoral candidate. He had been an interpreter during the 1959 Soviet exhibit in the New York Coliseum Exhibit, and had worked on the staff of the Institute of International Education.
 Twice, Mr. Lavernoch says, University examiners failed him in the linguistics section of the written exam for the Ph.D. He charges that, after he had been failed, "the University adopted ex post facto regulations and applied them to my colleagues so they would not be held to the same standards and regulations as I."
 He also charges that the University tampered with his records in an attempt to show he did not take certain required courses. He says he has transcripts showing he did take the courses.

The late Professor David Desparidre was prohibited from examining him, although he agreed to do so. Mr. Lavernoch says. Instead, the University assigned to him a man without a doctorate and without tenure as a faculty member, by implication a man in competition with him who would not be eager to have him pass.

After a long series of letters, appeals to and from various committees of the University and its trustees and their lawyers, Mr. Lavernoch decided to sue.

OFFICES?

Planners Disapprove. The Planning Board doesn't like the idea of budding a pair of two-story office buildings in a residential Township area. The board decided at its May 1 meeting to tell the Township Zoning Board that it doesn't go along with the zoners' recommendation for a use variance to allow construction of the buildings at the corner of Valley and North Harrison.

Neighbors who protest construction of the office buildings were present at the Planning Board meeting. A petition, signed by 43 opponents, was presented to the board. Signatories think the buildings would be incompatible with the residential character of the neighborhood.

Planners, in denying their stamp of approval, said they might change their minds if the developers, Dr. Arnold Hirsch and Dr. Robert Albary, could incorporate low and/or middle-income housing into their building plans.

Discussions on this possibility may be held with members of the housing sub-committee of the planning board.

Monday night with the Inter-governmental Drug Committee (the Institute for Applied Psychotherapy should go.

The IDC recommended that, between now and August 31 when IAP's "program year" ends, the Institute should work with Mrs. Nancy White, administrator of Corner House, to effect an orderly transition in deciding what programs are appropriate for present IAP members.

The Drug Committee's evaluation of the IAP project included talks with representatives of SLEPA (the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency), which currently is providing $36,125 to IAP; interviews with other Princeton people concerned with youth, asking questions of former IAP members and, especially, analyzing how IAP's emphasis relates to a more comprehensive drug program for Princeton.

SLEPA said "no more" Princeton youth workers and others, felt that additional municipal expense would be hard to justify. The establishment of Corner House last August, was felt to make IAP redundant. In the past, the Drug Committee felt, it might have been a good idea to have for IAP as an independent entity, but this was no longer true. Committee member Barbara Smoyer said the Drug Committee felt IAP's contributions were "substantial," and she added that some staff might be absorbed into Corner House.

POLICE WEEK MAY 13-19

In Township. Township Committee has declared May 13-19 as Police Week and has set aside Sunday as Township Police Memorial Day as a tribute to all law officers who have given their lives in the line of duty.

In reading the proclamation Monday night, Mayor Jay Bleiman, who praised the Township police as one of the best police departments in the state, said: "These are more than just words. I really believe what I wrote."

All police will wear black tape across their badges for a 24 hour period Sunday and the flag will fly at half mast in tribute to their fallen comrades. Township Police Chief Frederick Porter urged all citizens to join in this recognition of National Police Week.

Next Friday, the Township police, in cooperation with the Middle School principal Thornton Grove, will have an display for the pupils of Community Park and Valley Road Schools, the Mercer County Chiefs of Police exhibit trailer and a police cruiser. They will be on display the following day at the Princeton Shopping Center.

Inside the trailer are displays of communications, narcotics, scientific equipment, home security devices and closed circuit television. Police officers will be present to answer any questions.

What Other Show Has Run for 40 Hit Years?

LONG AGO, BUT NOT FAR AWAY: "Belle the Typewriter Girl," the final 1973 spring production for Princeton Community Players, was given by the Players 35 years ago — in 1938. "Belle" was just as much a mellerdrammer then as now, and in this scene, carving the ham for all it's worth, are Erling Dorf (geology professor at Princeton) in the gun-totin' role of Abe; Bernard Ledwidge (a grad. student back in '38) as the knife-wielding Edward Blake; Alden Wicks (artist's now resident in New Hope) as Ralph and Melanie Updegraff (whereabouts now unknown) as the helpless Belle herself. Identification is by "Mr. Community Players" — Herbert McAneny.

When Herb and Marguerite McAneny and about 30 other people founded Princeton Community Players 40 years ago, they had two purposes in mind: to bring Town and Gown together and to provide something that would keep McCarter Theatre from being dark and silent for 11 months of the year between Triangle Club shows.

Whether Town and Gown are any more together, 40 years later, is between-the-acts speculation.

But McCarter certainly isn't dark any more between Triangles, and maybe the Players helped.

"Our first play was 'Cock Robin' on May 22, 1933," Mr. McAneny begins, "one performance was all we could do—couldn't draw enough of an audience to fill McCarter for more than that."

Herb McAneny, the quiet, rather diffident man who taught English and history to restless young scholars at the old Princeton Country Day School and then at Princeton Day Players dropped to one. One actor was taken to Fort Dix, and even a long play, "The Bad Man," Fort Dix saw "Belle the Typewriter Girl," too.

War time performances were not to be benefits—for British War Relief, the town's Playground Fund or, again, the hospital.

Expansion came after the war. The Players incorporated in 1946, issued bonds and purchased "Avalon," the Henry Van Dyke mansion where the YM YWCA now stands.

"We knocked out one wall on the main floor and made a place where we could give plays for small audiences—in the round, sometimes," Herb remembers, looking over play bills. After the actors had folded the costumes and gone home Saturday night, the small theatre became the Sunday morning meeting place for the Unitarians. The upstairs was remodeled into apartments and the McAnenys themselves lived there, on the top floor.

"Ham?" "Then," Herb says, with real nostalgia, "we got the best theatre we've ever had—next to Bill Dornier's meat market."

It was the building on Alexander Street where the Ballet Society now is, and the jubilant Players called it the Playmill. It had everything poor old Avalon had lacked: work space where sets could be hammered out, performing space for either in the round or proscenium, plenty of parking.

"We were there four years—we gave 'Belle' there in 1958, and 'Mary of Scotland' with Georgine Hall Freedman as Mary, and Pat Sturhahn as Queen Elizabeth..." But the rent went up so.

From 1961 until 1966, the Players shared Murray Theatre with Theatre Intime, "...but then, Intime just couldn't let us have the time we needed — Continued on Next Page

School, doesn't happen to be president of the Players this year — he's treasurer.

But he has been president three times, and so has his wife, Marguerite. She's also directed at least a dozen plays; he's only directed five because he's acted in so many.

Among the five, of course, is "Belle the Typewriter Girl," which he did in 1958 and is doing again, rehearsing toward an opening night next Friday, May 19.

How It All Began. In the early '30s in Princeton, the University League used to give plays, Herb recalls. Then one night, some people gathered at the home of Richard Field, a geology professor, and decided to start something for the whole town.

By the end of the first year, in May, 1931, Princeton Community Players had 250 members. It now has 135.

"The town had far fewer organizations 40 years ago—not so many groups devoted to singing, dancing and so on," and he smiles a rather quiet smile, "not so many meetings to go to as there are now."

The Players doubled their usual schedule to give two performances of "And So To Bed" — It was a 1936 benefit for Princeton Hospital. Princeton socialites posed for photographs at various key locations in town (Leddie Laughlin Jr. in a barber's chair at Dornier's... Mayor Charles R. Edrman in a photo for Cox's Store with the caption "Why be caught with an empty ice box?") R. Kenneth Faiman, who would one day be a mayor, too, jauntily posing in the Nassau Inn, and the pictures were bound into a fund raising booklet that is a treasure of Princeton life and Princeton ways.

War Time Changes. War brought change. From three or four productions a year, the Wandering, once again, like Evangelina or the Flying Dutchman the Players came to rest at the Unitarian Church where they have been for the past three years. Scenery and costumes have to be stored elsewhere—usually in a member's barn, and a new and wonderful movable light board must be transported to and fro also, but there's a stage and a modern building and room for a small audience.

 Wide Variety Players plays over the past 40 years, have ranged from J.S. Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton," back in that first decade, to Jonesco's "Rhinoeros" in the '60s and this year's "House of Blue Leaves."
 Bernard Shaw has always been a heavy favorite—"St. Joan," "Candida" and "Arms

 "People sometimes remember us best for our original musicals," Herb thinks. "We did 'Along the Road' in 1948—original music by Mae Sturges and a book by Monroe Wade. They did two others—"Sailing On" and "The Magic Well" and then we did "The Beggars' Opera" in 1953—that was a grand show! One of our best."
 The late P. Mackay Sturges was later mayor of the Borough. Mr. Wade is still actively involved in Princeton theatre.
 "The Old Order Changeth. "I'd say today's active Players members are younger than we were when we started," Herb estimates. "I find it hard to enlist the enthusiasm of older or former members. They all tell me how busy they are with other things. But we still have them as dues-paying members."
 For the next 40 years, the Players want to underscore their workshops. Acting workshops have been held in recent seasons, and next year there will probably be a production workshop, instructing amateurs in lighting, make-up and the like.

REED COMING

Rock Singer, Expelled from high-school ROTC, rejected by the military as "mentally unlit," now an alumnus of Andy Warhol's Velvet Underground Band and, most exhilarating of all, about to appear in Alex Under Hill.

It's Lou Reed, rock singer and song writer. His current record is Transformer and it has his hit, "Walk on the Wild Side." He'll be in Alex Under Hill Monday at 8 p.m. McCarter Theatre.

Sponsor of Lou Reed — will end its pop events for the season on Sunday, June 10 at 8 p.m. with Proffor and Bergman of the Firesign Theatre. Tickets go on sale next Monday.

"PRISONERS"

Harlem Theme The black University students who express themselves through the group called Harambee House, will present "Prisoners," this Sunday at 8 p.m. in McCarter Theatre.

Featured in the production will be the Agile Dancers and the Princeton Youth Center Gospel Choir, both from the Center, excerpts from the plays of Ohio-award winner Richard Wesley of Harlem's New Lafayette theatre and poetry selections including poems written by actual prisoners from their cells. Other poems come from student writers.

The struggle and frustration of millions of people tired of unwanted hands, either real or societal, is the theme of "Prisoners," according to coordinator Howard Wilson.

Tickets, at $2, may be obtained at the McCarter box office.

DANCE CYCLE PLANNED

Sunday Evening. Dancers from the Modern Dance classes of the Program in Creative Writing and Theatre at Princeton will present a "Meditation Cycle" in the Rotunda of the Student Center on the campus from 7 to 11 Sunday evening. Carole Weber, one of the regular accompanists of the classes, will play the flute, and Susan Patner '74 will play a "drone" accompaniment on a portable organ.

Chris Janney '73 will provide visual projections. The "Cycle" is under the direction of Miss Weber.

The "Cycle" will consist of a series of dance improvisation by the dancers with encouragement given to audience participation. The event is open to all without admission fee.

"Z"

Then Truffaut, Costa Gavras' film "Z," precedes or in his current hit "State of Siege" —

will be shown this Friday at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. as part of McCarter Theatre's May Movie Festival. Tickets will be on sale at the box office starting at 10 a.m., and also at the door before screenings. In "Z," Yves Montand plays a Greek pacifist who is struck down by a speeding truck. Although official reports label it an accidental death, the examining magistrate believes a full-scale investigation is in order and eventually the death is shown to be political murder.

Francis Truffaut's "Mississippi Mermaid" will be shown next Wednesday, May 16 at 8 p.m. in the regular Moyles-McCarter series. Catherine Deneuve and Jean-Paul Belmondo star. It's about a tobacco planter who sends for a mail-order bride. Blackmail and in-

BEAN IS BACK

At All Saints Church. "Richard Harding Bush or the Roccoco Coco Bean," that Street Theatre classic, will be given again in a performance at 2 p.m. this Saturday at All Saints Church. Admission is free.

Elementary schools of PTA organizations that would like to sponsor "Bean" are invited—even urged—to call 921-8826 and ask Debbie Bellow for detailed information.

The play may be given on a stage or in a large room, or outdoors on Street Theatre's mobile stage or even the earth of a school playground.

A small fee covers royalties and production expenses, and if the mobile stage is used, a truck and driver. Street Theatre, a non-profit organization, emphasizes that its fees are small. All money earned by Street Theatre goes toward financing the Theatre's three, free, summer productions.

"BREL" IS BACK

To Trenton, from Paris. Singers from Princeton and near-by cabarets will offer "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" at the Artist Showcase Theatre in Trenton Saturday, May 19; Friday, May 25 and Saturday, May 26. The theatre is on Indiana Avenue, one block from Brunswick Avenue and the Route One Brunswick Circle. Curtain-time is 8:30.

Lee Dratfield, folksinger who makes her home in Princeton, will star in "Brel" along with John Johnson, Princeton resident and University graduate, and Russ Miceli, who teaches at Hopewell Valley Central High School (film media) and has sung in restaurants in Princeton and Rucks County.

Gerald E. Guarneri, whom audiences will remember for his multi-media production of "The Magic Flute" is directing and Eva Kaplin is artistic advisor. Mildred Goldberger has the title of special advisor. Barbara Dyett is Mr. Guarneri's assistant and Joanne Widman is the piano accompanist.

"ALICE"

In Ballet. An original two-act ballet based on "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass" will be danced, in two performances, by Princeton Ballet Society dancers late in May.

"Alice" will be given at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Saturday, May 26 at McCarter as the alternate-year spring production of the Society. According to Audree Estey, director of the Society, 276 student dancers will perform.

Original choreography appropriate for skill ranging from that of six-year-olds to the expertise of soloists with the Princeton Regional Ballet Company, has been created by Lila Brunner, Joan Lucas, Ruth Langridge, Avril Johns and Mrs. Estey. The music has been selected from the early 20th century. In the words of Marilios Kierman, director of music for the Society, it has been chosen "to reflect the humorous, fantastic and tongue-in-cheek mode of Lewis Carroll." The music comes from works by Poulenc, Stravinsky, Milhaud, Britten, Francaix and Shostakovich. (Also, the Sauerkraut Marching Band.)

David Guthrie, who designed the Regional Ballet's "Coppelia", has designed the costumes. Ruth Pettit, costume supervisor for the Ballet Society, is directing the sewing. Lowell Achziger, of the McCarter Theatre staff, is in charge of sets and lights.

The role of Alice will be danced by Judy Biewener at one performance and by Betsy Guerin at the other. Judy, 10, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Biewener of Pennington. Betsy, 11, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Guerin Jr. of Princeton.

Other principals include Lynn Dennis as White Rabbit; Elaine Quinet, March Hare; Lee Aldrich, the Mad Hatter; Robin Goldman, Dormouse; Jan Leviton and Barbara Wagner, King and Queen of Hearts; Christine Edwards and Gina Cipelli, Tweedle Dum and Tweedle Dee; Jennifer Bellah and Carter McAdams as the caterpillars, Diana Zeydel and Ken Sturgis, the unicorn and the lion.

Also Christina Koltz, White Queen, with Miss Wagner as the Red Queen; Sherry Kaplan, Tiger Lily; Cheryl Hendrickson, Humpty Dumpty; Sandra Bito, Queen Bee and Bonnie Finfer, Queen of the Ants. Carter McAdams will also appear as the White Knight with Steve Huber as the Black Knight.

Ballet Society students are participating in a ticket selling contest for cash prizes. Gloria Woodside is in charge. Tickets are also available through the McCarter box office (921-8700). Prices are $3.25 and $2.75 in the orchestra; $3.25, 2.75 and 2.25 in the balcony.

PLAYHOUSE

Lady Sings the Blues. A slick version of Billie Holiday's life, with Diana Ross making a smash debut in the lead role.

More Hollywood than Hollywood, as one reviewer commented, the film succeeds in whetting the appetite to know more about the woman. It sketches her life in a manner no more foolish than others of its genre: "Funny Girl's" Fanny Brice, "I'll Cry Tomorrow's" Lillian Roth.

Diana Ross is very contemporary, and she has a certain chemistry that wins sympathy. And in the singing department...

GARDEN
 Cesar and Rosalie. A glossy, French import (with English titles) in which Yves Montand, Romy Schneider and Sami Frey, all in love with each other, weigh the pros and cons of their romantic triangle. By far the best thing about this uninvolved account of upper bourgeoisie types is Miss Schneider, who has never looked as beautiful as she does here.

Cesar (Montand) loves Rosalie who loves Cesar but also loves David (Frey) who loves Rosalie. David, who turns up out of the blue, had been an earlier chapter in Rosalie's life. Rosalie is also a loving mother, having had a daughter from a previous marriage.

Everyone chatters amiably but aimlessly and at great length; the three take turns walking out on the others, only to show up again. The furnishings and scenery are never less than attractive but Cesar and Rosalie, which was a smash hit in Paris, is likely to make less of a stir in the United States.

THE PRINCE
 The Heartbreak Kid. Elaine May's second film based on a Neil Simon screenplay has flaws, but it is also a wincingly accurate comedy about a young man on his honeymoon and his victims. There is ample humor both in broad laughs and in the caustic, powerful insights that come from moments of recognition when human foibles are accurately captured and revealed.

Lenny Cantrow is honeymooning in Miami with his wife (Jennie Berlin), whom he has never really looked at and about whom he soon has some grave doubts. (She eats Milky Ways in bed for one thing.) When she gets sunburned the first day and must stay indoors, Lenny discovers the girl of his dreams when he meets Cybill Shepherd, a beautiful, blonde All-American girl from Minneapolis who, in love, pulls out all the stops to get her.

Despite its laughs, the film is laced with streaks of cruelty. The scene where Lenny tries to tell his wife the truth is one of the meanest, but Miss May with her sense of pace and comic timing does not let the cruelty tear down the whole movie. Even a Graduate-style ending can't detract from the brilliant comedy she has directed. PG.

'The Gondoliers' to Open Two-Day Run Tuesday.

For the first time in its four-year history, the Gilbert & Sullivan Association plays in McCarter Theatre on Tuesday, May 15 and Thursday, May 17 with its current production of "The Gondoliers."

Yet it would be inaccurate to say that the boards of McCarter are in any way unfamiliar to most members of this hardworking and experienced company.

Arthur Lathgow, who has coordinated the staging with Ruth Kay Walker, was the Executive Director of McCarter Theatre for many years and directed many plays, both modern and classical, on McCarter's stage. Quite incidentally, he is one of the few people in America (if not in the world) who has directed every single one of Shakespeare's plays.

MUSIC In Princeton

David Agler, the musical director, has sung and played on the stage of McCarter a few years ago when he was an undergraduate at Westminster Choir College.

Kay Walker, now a graduate student at the University of Michigan, was a leading instructor in the McCarter Workshop a few years ago. This team of directors was responsible for the successful performance of "Pirates of Penzance" last year at the Kirby Arts Center in Lawrenceville.

When it comes to Lee Bristol, Jr., there is scarcely a square foot of McCarter's stage that has not responded to his charmingly eccentric dance-steps in a host of Gilbert & Sullivan operettas of the old Savoyard organization, where he played the leading comedy parts of Ko-Ko in "The Mikado," Sir Joseph Porter in "Pinafore," the Lord Chancellor in "Iolanthe," and once, in 1957, the Duke of Plaza-Toro, which he is recreating this spring in "The Gon-

ARE THEY GONDOLIERS? In a way, yes. They are Kathy Pruden and Dan Caldwell, singing Casilda and Luiz in the Gilbert & Sullivan Association's production of "The Gondoliers." It will be given May 15 and 17 — skipping a day in between — at McCarter.

Although a Gilbert & Sullivan production is a gay and light-hearted affair, combining music, satire, laughter, and wit in ways that have seldom been equaled since, the actual job of putting on a G&S opera is arduous, requiring careful attention to tempos and intonation (Sullivan's music is not easy music) and expert timing in the accurate delivery of Gilbert's sharp and witty barbs at Victorian stodginess and respectability.

Approximately four to five weeks of more or less continuous rehearsals are needed to bring actors and chorus to that pitch of precision that a well done G&S opera requires. While the cast is working at Westminster Choir College and in the auditoriums of Trinity Church and Stuart School, John Kemp, the designer of the scenery, has been busy painting the sets, which include one Venetian scene complete with canal and gondolas — and one scene in the Republic of Kingdom of Barataria, an island some 300 miles in a southern sea.

The cast and chorus includes: Lee H. Bristol, Jr. as the Duke of Plaza-Toro; Donald Caldwell as Luiz; Charles Hausmann as the Grand Inquisitor; John McLain as Marco; Robert McIver as Giuseppe; Charles G. Kings as Antonio; Michael Imperiale as Francesco; Thomas Purviance as Giorgio; Judith Nicolsia as the Duchess of Plaza-Toro; Kathleen Pruden as Casilda; Karen Melver as Gianetta; Linda Kassuf as Teresa; Doreen Dixon as Flaminetta; Kathleen Brady as Victoria; Marguerite Takach as Giulia; and Christa Rounds as Inez.

TO SING BRAHMS

In Dr. Plantinga's Memory. A Concert of Music for Vocal Ensemble by Johannes Brahms will be presented this Sunday at 3:30 in Woolworth Center under the auspices of the Friends of Music. The concert is open to the public, admission free.

This will be the first in a series of concerts honoring the memory of Oliver S. Plantinga. Mr. Plantinga, a long time resident of Princeton, died a year ago. He was a chemical engineer who taught himself the piano and became an accomplished and earnest amateur, maintaining his interest in music throughout his life. His widow is endorsing a series of concerts under the aegis of the Friends of Music so that Mr. Plantinga's devotion to fine music may be shared by his friends and neighbors.

The program will consist of the Zigeunerlieder, Opus 103, Four Duets, Opus 103 and the Liebeslieder Walzer, Opus 52. Singers will be Ann Tedards, soprano, Mimmi Fulmer '74, mezzo-soprano, Thomas Ford '74 and Daniel Pincus '76, tenors and Norman Rubin, bass.

PHS Choir to Give Concert Saturday

Music the Princeton High School Choir will sing in Europe this summer will be given an absence performance for Princeton residents when the Choir gives its fund-raising concert this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall. The Choir's director is William R. Tegg.

Tickets, at $1 for adults and $2 for students, may be bought at the door or in advance at the high school. Proceeds will help finance the Choir's trip to Vienna, Budapest and Prague for participation in the Festival of Three Cities, sponsored by the National Education Scholarship Foundation. The Choir will leave June 28 and return July 12.

This Saturday's program will include a group of early songs from such composers as Palestrina and Schubert and excerpts from the Bach "Jesu, Meine Freude" sung by the Chamber Choir.

Haydn's "Heiligmesse," the Mass in B-flat Major will also be sung, in a group with a Blueknit Ave Maria and Faure's "Cantique de Jean Racine."

After intermission, the Choir's Madrigal Singers will perform the Ninth Symphony which will be performed by the Princeton University Orchestra this Friday in Alexander Hall at 8:30, under the direction of Peter Westergaard. Soloists will be Ann Tedards, soprano; Mimmi Fulmer, mezzo-soprano; George Livings, tenor and Robert Oliver, bass.

present a group of seven songs: Benjamin Britten's "Chorus Dance" (Gloriana); four Slovak Folk Songs by Bartok; three Hungarian Folk Songs by Kodaly and an Appalachian Folk Song from the United States ("Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair") will follow.

The Choir will conclude with Vincent Persichette's "Celebrations" (Cantata No. 3) and the "Carmen Orff" "Carmina Burana."

The "Heiligmesse" will be sung by the Choir in St. Stephen's, Dorn in Vienna, one of the largest cathedrals in the world. Organist and Choir accompanist Nancianne Parella will play the organ, and the 80-voice choir will also have full orchestral accompaniment.

The songs will also perform "Carmen" from a "top balcony" in the cathedral. This special concert will be given July 4.

The evening concert in Vienna will feature the Choir, with vocal groups from the United States and various European countries, in the Orff "Carmina Burana" with the Paganini Symphony.

The chorus, prepared by Walter Nollner, consists of members of the Princeton University Glee Club, the Chapel Choir, the Freshman Glee Club and the Opera Theatre-Chorus. The concert is open to the public, admission free.

TWO AT TWO PIANOS

In "Friends" Concert, Edward Cone and Walter Nollner, pianists, will play in Alexander Hall next Wednesday, May 16, at 8:30, sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton. The program will be music for two pianos: Stravinsky's Concerto for Two Pianos; Mr. Cone's Fantasy for Two Pianos and the Brahms Sonata in F Minor for Two Pianos.

Professors Cone and Nollner, both members of the Princeton University Music Department faculty, have collaborated in the past in the performance of music for two pianos or piano four-hands. In 1971 they presented an all-Schubert concert for piano, four hands.

Mr. Cone's Fantasy was first performed in New York in March in Carnegie Recital Hall, and will be heard in Princeton for the first time on May 16th. The concert is open to the public, admission free.

SEASON TO END For Musked Amateurs. Reviving a former tradition which dates back to 1930, the Princeton Society of Musked Amateurs will again present the Bach "Mass in B minor" at its final meeting of the season on Sunday at 5, at the Unitarian Church. The Mass — for chorus, orchestra, and soloists — will be conducted by Prof. J. Merrill Knapp, and will feature Marie Bogart, soprano;

Lois Lavery, alto; Fadlou Shehadi, bass; Edward Parmentier, harpsichord, and Joseph Kovacs, concert master.

The Society's meetings are not performances, but informal readings in which any musically interested person may participate. No auditions are required to sing in the chorus. Those wishing to attend should call Mrs. Golda Gottlieb at 921-7214 so that arrangements can be made for music and refreshments. There is a small door charge for non-members.

FREE RECITAL PLANNED

For Your Information . . .

In an effort to clear up the confusion about how to care for clothes, the Federal Trade Commission issued a rule that generally requires clothing manufactured after July, 1972, to be permanently labeled with washing or cleaning instructions. This created more confusion than it cleaned up.

One of the four "examples" of instructions read "Dry clean only. Do not use petroleum solvents or coin operated method on dry cleaning."

The Coin Wash does not use a petroleum solvent but uses the same dry cleaning solvent that all dry cleaners use.

After being deluged with letters from dry and coin operated cleaners, the FTC has since changed its example to read, "Dry Clean Only."

There has been one change, however, in the dry cleaning process at the Coin Wash. Some had complained of a "dry cleaning odor" but NOW there is no after cleaning odor because of a new dry cleaning system we use.

News Of The CHURCHES

CONFIRMATION SET

For 410 by St. Paul's. The Princeton University Chapel will be the site of confirmation ceremonies Thursday at 4 p.m. for 410 children, plus several more adults, from the parish of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church Bishop George W. Ahr, S.T.D., of the Trenton diocese, will officiate.

Confirmation marks the ritualization of the coming of the Holy Spirit to the individual, just as the Spirit came to the Apostles on the Pentecost following the Resurrection.

In the first century the apostles waited in the Upper Room for the fulfillment of Christ's promise of the coming of the Spirit. On the day of the Pentecost the Spirit came, and Peter went out on a balcony and promptly converted 3,000 listeners. St. Paul's has not come close to that record but the confirmation class of 410 is its largest ever, thus the university chapel instead of St. Paul's Church, itself for the service.

The children, mostly sixth and seventh graders, will be divided into 23 classes as they enter the chapel. Each class will follow a banner made for the confirmation and displaying one word chosen by the class to represent an outgrowth of the coming of the Spirit.

Girls will be dressed in white robes; boys in red.

Because of the large number, one man and one woman will serve as proxy sponsors for the candidates. Candidates will come in groups of 24 to kneel down. The sponsor will place his hand on the right shoulder, as Bishop Ahr appoints each individually on the forehead with oil and makes the sign of the cross.

The candidates for confirmation will sing at the service, accompanied by a special ensemble arranged for this occasion. The musical group, including several university students and members of the St. Paul's parish, will consist of folk and electric guitar, trumpets, organ, tambourine and bass fiddle.

Preparation for confirmation began in January. Under the supervision of Sister Gail Nolan, R.S.M., director of religious education at St. Paul's, the classes took religious instruction, practiced music, and engaged in service activities, including visitations in a nursing home and an orphanage, and an ecology project.

The children are from St. Paul's School, Stuart School, and Princeton and Montgomery Township public schools. Confirmation classes have been given every two years at St. Paul's, although the church is now considering changing that to every year.

RECEPTION IS HELD

By Recording for the Blind. The Princeton Unit of Recording For the Blind held a reception Sunday honoring the more than 300 volunteers who devote their time and talents to recording books for blind students throughout the country.

The reception, which was held in the Common Room of the Institute for Advanced Study, was the occasion for presentation of awards to volunteers with five, 10 and 15 years of service on behalf of the blind. Ater Mrs. John Mulligan, Chairman of the Princeton unit, had greeted the guests Mr. Donald Staley, executive director of the national organization, made the awards:

For 15 years' service: Mrs. Thomas Bogia, studio director of the Princeton Unit, Mrs. Harold Cherniss, Miss Esther Dilworth, Mrs. Randall Keator, Mrs. Robert McAllen, Prof. Marston Morse, Mrs. Norman Mather, Mrs. James Scarff, Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, Mrs. George Stevens.

For 10 years' service: Mrs. Doris Hatcher, Mrs. Eric James, Mrs. Arthur Pardee, Mrs. Richard Paynter III, Mrs. Hugh Samson.

For five years' service: James E. Carnes, Robert Davidson, Mrs. Franklin Dick, Mrs. A.M. El-Meligi, Miss Myrtle Goetz, Mrs. Justin Kudner, Richard Morse, James Parsons, Mrs. James Parsons, Mrs. Albert Sommer, Irving Van Zandt, Miss Mildred Weigel, Albert Westfeld, Raymond Willis.

Founded in 1958. The Princeton Unit of Recording For the Blind was founded in 1958 by Mrs. Ralph Rotnem who was honored in absentia at the Sunday reception. Through Mrs. Rotnem's industry and skill the Princeton Unit in the first six months of its operation recorded 14 books.

Readers were screened by voice tests as they still are today, because of the enormous demand and the vast increase in volunteers, these last six months have seen an output of 136 books.

As word of the organization's services has spread and more blind students have requested more books, the Princeton Unit has added two new recording booths, making a total of six; and a second duplicating machine has had to be installed. Tapes are duplicated promptly before being sent to the waiting student. The Princeton studio, located in the basement of the Theological Seminary's Education Building, is a constant hive of activity. Mrs. Thomas Bogia, Studio Director, and her assistants, Mrs. Robert Winter and Mrs. Susan Sachs, supervise the reading, monitoring, checking, duplicating, marking of books, and the shipping of the tapes as soon as they are ready.

Through their efforts and those of the volunteers, the last twelve months have seen a production of 253 taped books, amounting to 4,026 individual tapes. This represents 8,952 reading hours and an equal number of monitoring hours.

First Reader. The first reader in the Princeton Unit, according to Mrs. Mulligan, was Mr. Monroe Wade who recorded a biography of Woodrow Wilson. "By an interesting coincidence," Mrs. Mulligan added, "President Wilson's name figures in our assembly here today, for a blind Princeton University student who is with us this afternoon will be graduated next month from the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs."

"Richard Nenna of Buffalo who has achieved a brilliant academic record, has received during his four years at the University, 276 taped books from Recording For the Blind, 46 of them taped right here in our studio."

Two Princeton area girls have also read many tapes of recorded books during their college years. Miss Susan Robinson, who recently won a degree of Master of Music from Syracuse University, now teaches singing privately in Princeton.

She is hoping to use her talents in voice training at a high school or college. Miss Robinson spends one day a week as a volunteer at the Princeton studio where she helps with office work and offers valuable suggestions on technical points in recording.

And Miss Merrill Woolnough who is graduating this June from Hiram College in Ohio with a major in political science, has found the Princeton Unit's recorded material invaluable in her work. Miss Woolnough volunteers her services during vacations.

Both girls are expert brail lists and they express their appreciation for the help they have received by offering their reservation chairman, Mrs. David H. Wyle, and Mrs. Gino B. Treves. New members accepted are: Mrs. Robert E. Flory and M. E. M. Burgers.

Mrs. Eleanor Nelson, co-owner of the Fabric Shop, will host the members of the Princeton Sceptimist Club Tuesday night, at her home at 140 Hun Road. A buffet supper will be served at 6:30.

A slate of officers for next year will be presented by the nominating committee for the club's consideration and the delegates will report on the convention held at Mt. Airy Lodge last weekend.

Elaine Bezilla, 228 State Rd., has been elected President of the League of Women Voters of the Princeton Area League. She and the following officers were elected at the organization's annual meeting: Kay Heisler, secretary; Kay David, treasurer; Peggy Killmer, Princeton municipal chairman; Jill Halbert, Montgomery municipal chairman; Sally Stilwell, West Windsor municipal chairman.

The Directors are: Mary Mikkelsen, national program coordinator; Priscilla Week, state program coordinator; Susan Stanbury, local program coordinator; Elie Crawford, voters service coordinator; Ann Levine, membership coordinator; Ruth Wolfson, unit coordinator.

The Princeton Area League

is composed of three Units — whose members live in Montgomery, Princeton and West Windsor. Each unit works on items effecting its municipality, as well as county, state and national items.

The following local topics were adopted for the coming year: for Montgomery, library, water and planning; for Princeton — public policy, housing and environment, and local government; for West Windsor, a Know Your Town Study, land use, recreation, and local government. Princeton and West Windsor units will also examine county government structure, working with the other Leagues in Mercer County.

Newcomers to the area who would like to know more about these projects as well as other League activities, may call Ann Levine, membership chairman, at 924 8123.

Mothers of pupils enrolled at Littlebrook School are invited to visit their children's classes this Friday.

Hours of visiting are 9 to 10 a.m. for grades K through III, and 10 to 11 for Mrs. Biddle's and Mrs. Saldick's multi-age classrooms.

Grades IV and V are scheduled to be away for the day on a field trip in Island Beach; however, if the weather is unfavorable classes will be held, and mothers are welcomed to visit these grades also.

Dr. David A. Fluck, Mercer County Pathologist and member of Mercer County Council on Aging, will speak at the meeting of the Lawrence Township Senior Citizens Club at 1 Tuesday at American Legion Headquarters (Post 414), 100 Berwyn Place.

Dr. Fluck has chosen as his topic "A Tale of Planned Cities" and will describe the results of efforts in Brazil to create "Brazil a" and in Australia to establish "Canberra". Both cities are laid out according to detailed planning.

Sierra Club: 8:15 p.m., Tuesday, at Peyton Hall University Campus. New Jersey's vanishing options in water quality management will be the topic of a panel discussion featuring John Dunka and James West, water, authors of the Musto Commission report which describes the state's growing water quality crisis.

The County and Municipal Government Commission has spent two and a half years investigating the state's water quality prior to issuing this report. It concludes that although New Jersey's taxpayers have spent more than $1 billion dollars during the last decade to clean up state waters, fragmented and ineffective efforts at every level of government have left the waterways more polluted than ever.

Mr. Dunka and Mr. West, water will suggest how the public can be assured that the $3 billion dollars to be spent during the next 15 years will actually improve water quality.

The public is invited to attend this meeting to learn more about the Sierra Club and its activities which also include an outings program.

Information about forthcoming outings, which include hikes and canoe trips, can be obtained from Ludwig Gohler at (201) 297-3299.

The Friends of Princeton Seminary have held their annual meeting and elected officers for the coming year. They are: Walter F. Fullam, president; Mrs. A. Kohn Sprengle, Devon, Pennsylvania, first vice-president; Mrs. Robert B. Meyner, second vice president; Mrs. L. Penn Stafford, secretary. Mrs. Clayton Morris Hall was re-elected treasurer.

Outgoing co-Presidents Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Erdman, Jr., were honored at a special ceremony at which they were presented with an antique engraving of the Seminary's first building, Alexander Hall.

Princeton Association of Girl Scouts: annual "thank you" luncheon, 11:30, this Thursday at All Saints Church. Men and Women Are Welcome at Robert Joseph

A shop favoring wash and wear hair for both men and women has opened this spring at 293 Nassau Street. Robert Joseph, (shown above), whose shop bears his name, feels that hair is healthier without rollers, hair spray and teasing. Mr. Joseph does not believe in forcing the hair to do anything, but allows it to go in a natural direction. With the aid of a blower, curlers and hot rollers he achieves a natural look. He has a model educate his customers so that without week's hair set, they can produce the same style at home.

There is a wonderful atmosphere in the shop that reminded us of a large old summer home at Easthampton. The waiting area is furnished with rattan chairs having cushions covered in a gold lion print fabric and with an old oriental rug on the floor. Then the hairstyles are created while the customer sits in a bright yellow director's chair, surrounded by wood shingle walls, yellow and red Tiffany lamps and many plants. Mr. Joseph designed the decor himself because he feels his customers prefer a casual atmosphere where they can feel comfortable. This is especially true for men who would be reluctant to enter a traditional women's beauty parlor. Males comprise about half of his business. Mr. Joseph asserts Mr. Joseph was formerly with Vidal Sassoon in Los Angeles, and is a firm believer in seminars and travel to keep abreast of the newest hair fashions. Robert Joseph's Hair House is open Tuesday to Saturday at 10, and closes when all is finished, generally by 8.

MORE THAN SILVER
At The Silver Shop, with the wedding season almost here, the Silver Shop on Palmer Square is worth a visit from those seeking a special or unusual gift. Robert Comly has selected for his shop far more than the name might indicate. In addition to old and new silver, there is china, pewter, framed prints, and many unique items. One of the most fascinating objects currently in the shop is a victorian compote made of red bristol glass, with gold leaf trim and a handpainted grape and leaf design. Also from the Victorian period is some lovely old silver, such as a seven-piece tea and coffee service made about 1890 by the Gorham company. It is plated, and has a lovely embossed design. The Silver Shop carries the Ellis Barker silver reproductions, which are finely plated. Some examples include an embossed Clippendale tray, $79.50; a pierced wine coaster $25, and a handsome muffineer, $29.50.

Stieff, Tuttle Flatware. If a sterling flatware pattern is needed, Mr. Comly has a few he particularly likes. By Stieff there is a Williamsburg reproduction and by Tuttle there are two patterns. Feather Edge and Hannah Hull. Mr. Comly also buys separate pieces from older patterns. In a drawer filled with them, we saw a set of 10 forks and knives in the 1902 pattern and a set of eight handwrought seafood forks in Panel Antique by Newberry Company, $64.

Stieff also makes beautiful pewter and we especially admired a graceful pitcher with a wooden handle. It comes in three sizes, beginning at $29.75. On into the china, there is a set of 12 19th century desert plates, each representing a month of the year and showing an appropriate scene, $55. An other unusual item is a cobalt blue dresden type candy dish, which features a pastoral scene and gold leaf handles, $50.

Also the shop has various framed hunting and shipping prints. A favorite of ours was a set of six English prints that trace the story of the hunt, $30 each.

Repair Service. In addition to its fine merchandise, the Silver Shop offers an extraordinary service. It is able to repair almost anything. Silver can be replated, refinished, or professionally polished; glass or china can be mended even if a missing part has to be recreated; pearls can be cleaned and restrung; lamps can be rewired; and these are only some of the possibilities.

Mr. Comly sends most of the repair work out to experts in various fields, who will professionally fix whatever damage you, your cat or grandchild has done. Because much of the stock in the shop is old, many are one of a kind items and there is a

How much good are sunglasses! In Grandma's day they were unheard of, but today they are regarded as a normal and even a necessary part of our every day life. Sunglasses do provide comfort. They keep squinting and tired eyelids at a minimum. They protect the eye against excessive glare, especially in the winter snow and on sunny beaches. Sunglasses also protect the eyes from dust and windburn, so you need not apologize to Grandma at all.

Summer is just around the corner and that's the time we think mostly of sun glasses—although, at THE FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon we stock them the year around. Our cosmetic department features all the newest make-up for you for the fun and sun months ahead.

WORKROOM BECOMES IRIS
Boutique for Women. A change of name and a change in merchandise has taken place at 12 Spring Street. The Workroom, which carried a variety of imports, has become Iris, a clothing boutique for women. Nancy Browder, Iris's owner, has selected many fashions for the store on her travels to Europe and Mexico. From England there are several skirts. One has broomstick pleats that are permanently pressed so it can be returned to your closet at night rather than tied around a broomstock as was necessary years ago. This street-length skirt comes in soft colors with mini-flower prints, $17.

There is a floor-length skirt in subtle colors with fascinating staircase pleats up the front $24. Also from England Mrs. Browder chose a long skirt in gay soft plaids of blue, green and yellow. The flared skirt cut on the bias has a flounced hem and there is a matching waistcoat vest, $28.

From Mexico, there is a long bright pink dress with many-colored hand-embroidered flowers down the front and on the long sleeves, $53. There are also long skirts with the same lovely flowers.

From Finland. Then from Finland, there is some museum reproduction jewelry. The bracelets, pendants, belt buckles and necklaces are based on Norse legendary symbols, and we especially liked a copper pendant of Thor's hammer, $7.50.

While there are many imports, the American fashions have not been neglected. By Clovia Kuffin there is a soft brushed cotton shirtwaist dress in yellow or turquoise. Sleeveless with a nicely flared skirt, the dress looks unusually comfortable, $33.50.

Iris also has the shirt jackets that are so fashionable this spring in a white or beige linen-like material, $1850. David Hober makes these jackets, and also pants to match, $18.50.

A most unusual but fun fashion are the 1973 peddle-pushers. These calf-length pants are cuffed, and come in bright mini-prints, $13.

The shop has been re-designed by Princeton architect Pierre Coutin to include soft curves and cloud-like colors. There are also art nouveau painted windows featuring — but, of course, an Iris. It is open 10 to 5:30 Monday to Saturday.

PASTORAL LANDSCAPE: Claude Lorraine's landscape in black chalk, brown wash and pen dots from 1639. It is included in the University Art Museum's exhibit from the Norton Simon collection.

ART In Princeton

FROM THE 17TH CENTURY

At University Art Museum. The Princeton University Art Museum is featuring the Claude Lorraine Album. Although Lorraine (1600-1682) was best known for his landscape painting, his drawing was very important to him.

During his lifetime, he did not permit his drawings to be sold and gave few away. Shortly after his death, it is believed that this collection, including some other drawings that have since disappeared, were assembled into an album by his heirs, in order to sell to their Queen.

Several years ago, the album was purchased by the Norton Simon Museum of Art. The drawings, carefully removed from their pages revealed sketches and notations on the reverse side of many of the works. They have been carefully preserved and are now presented to the public in a rare and beautiful collection.

The drawings are classical in style. Delicately executed landscapes predominate with subjects often drawn from the Bible or mythology. Line and tone are combined to create a soft, hucolic atmosphere. Many different media are used. Wash, ink line, and chalk are used separately and in combination. Occasionally the work is executed on tinted paper which is employed to heighten the great range of textural and tonal effects that make these drawings notable.

One of the outstanding features of the drawings is their great clarity and freshness of the tonal passages. The many contrasting areas have been better preserved than comparable works of the era as a result of being sheltered from the light between the leaves of the album.

Thus we are able to see dark, firm lines and tonal variations much as they were when Lorraine executed the drawings. Rich tones and intense darks abound in the work accenting and highlighting the fine and delicate nature of contrasting lines and forms.

As the Lorraine drawings embody the artist seeking to idealize and ennoble the image in eras past, the Contemporary Photography display in the Morrison Gallery exhibits the current artistic concern with the display of distortion, both natural and philosophical, that man has imposed upon himself in this century.

Through different technical approaches, as well as subject matter, the use of the photograph to make a major statement is well displayed. In addition to their subject, overprinting, combined images, graphic techniques, lens distortion and odd color effects are used as visual tools by the photographers. The effect of the show is quite devastating in the statement it makes. A few poetic nature photographs are included and provide both sensitive imagery and effective contrast to the strong commentary made by the companion photographs.

Values are questioned, standards are ridiculed and simple subject matter often becomes a grotesque reflection of life. All of this is done using familiar subject matter occasionally through gimmicks but generally through a strong combination of subject, concept and technique.

At McCarter Theatre, "Photography as an Art Medium" is the newest collection to be included in the Princeton Art Association series. It is a pleasant change and much of the display represents the best uses of photography.

Capturing light, texture and detail are best shown through the camera lens. Many of the works illustrate results of a good marriage of the technical skills of the photographer and a sense of space, form and poetry.

There are examples of fine darkroom technique, some experimental photography and a few that attempt to make a pretentious statement. A judicious pruning of the accepted works would make this show even better.

At Gallery 100, Gallery 100 is featuring paintings by local artist Ken Melndoe. Landscape predominates in this display, but florals and a still life are included. The artist has still not freed himself from the Van Gogh approach to art, and intense color, heavy impasto and vigorous brushwork make for strong viewing.

Garden sculpture, pottery and batik are also on display. Works range from the very formal to original and imaginative pieces.

SHOW TO OPEN FRIDAY

At Art Confederation Gallery. The Art Confederation Gallery will present the watercolors of Robert Sakson and the sculpture of Joe Brown for its second spring show from May 11 through June 2. An opening reception will be held on Friday evening from 7 to 9.

Robert Sakson, a Trenton artist, is a member of the American Watercolor Society. Among the many juried shows in which his paintings have been exhibited are the Annals of the New Jersey State Museum, the National Academy of Design, the American Watercolor Society, Hunterdon County Art Center, Phillips Mill, and Monmouth College.

His work has also been shown at the Golden Door and Crest Galleries of New Hope, the Gallery by the Hill and the Woodmere Art Gallery of Philadelphia, and the Philadelphia Art Alliance. His watercolors have been included in traveling shows of the American Watercolor Society in 1970, 1971 and 1973. He was winner of the Multiple Sclerosis Society's annual competition with paintings that were reproduced on Christmas cards in 1966 through 1969. This year he received a Certificate of Merit for watercolor at the National Academy of Design.

Joe Brown, artist in residence and head of the Creative Arts Department at Princeton University, is sufficiently well known that he needs no further introduction. Several of his small bronzes and porcelain busts will be included in the show.

The Art Confederation Gallery is at 77 Main Street, Kingston, off the courtyard of Owen's Barn. Gallery hours are 1-5, Tuesday thru Saturday.

CRAFTS, ART SALE SET
By Area Artists. This Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12, the Princeton University Store will be the scene of an unusual and imaginative sale of crafts and art. The event, featuring the work of area artists and craftsmen, will be the first in a projected series.

The display will be in the special "Promotion area" located in the front corner of the store on the book floor, and will feature craft demonstrations as well as a wide variety of paintings and handicrafts for sale.

Participating are Virginia France, Ayako Firsing, Brooke Baumann, Susan Cottingham, Peggy Price, Mary Beth Kearney, and Jan Morrill.

Virginia France, whose work is sold under the name Handmaiden, will demonstrate off loom weaving and macrame. Examples of her work will appear in a forthcoming book called Makree-design, to be published in Germany. She will also be selling unusual handcrafted jewelry, with beads from such diverse places as Africa, Israel, and Peru.

Brooke Baumann, who has worked with Virginia France, has recently opened the Stained Glass Studio in Hopewell. In addition to making original panels, lamps, and mirrors, she recently completed an ambitious stained glass sign for the new Mazda dealership on Route 206.

Also on sale will be a collection of handcrafted jewelry from Morocco, mobiles, patchwork, prints, and calligraphy.

SUSUKI PLANS EXHIBIT
Friday Opening Scheduled. Dorothea Danzig, writer turned painter, will open an exhibition of "Magi-scapes" — others and things seen in fantasy — at Susuki Gallery, 32 Main Street, Kingston Friday evening. The public is invited to the cocktail opening beginning at 7:30.

Never noted for a conventional life-style, she has been a cowgirl in Texas, written a newspaper column, worked in advertising, turned out short stories and articles, married and mothered two daughters — one of them Patricia Wertheimer, principal of Princeton High School.

Mrs. Danzig started painting when she moved to Mexico, and her husband, internationally-known industrial psychologist, gave her paints, brushes and canvases. She hasn't stopped since.

The Danzigs have travelled widely and during these wanderings her conviction has grown that art is the only universal language. She feels that speech, politics, customs, etc., divide people — "Music, dance and painting encourage 'one-ness'."

She is currently a house guest of long-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Knebel.

CRAFT WORKSHOP BUSY
Each Thursday at YWCA. Flowered patchwork aprons, macramé belts, embroidered pillowcases, crocheted work and bright cotton casserole covers are part of the growing collection of handwork being produced every Thursday in the Craft Workshop at the YWCA.

A Workshop for patchwork pillows will be taught May 10, this Thursday by craftswoman Selma Heaton. Mrs. Marie Ruserblad and Mrs. Rosanne Jacks are co-chairmen.

All items will be sold at the YWCA International Festival, a full event scheduled for November 10. Volunteer workers are welcome and workshops will be held weekly until the Festival. Mrs. Landon Peters and Mrs. Albert Waxman, co-chairmen of the International Festival, have announced that the one day Festival will benefit both the World Friendship Fund and the Pearl Bates Fund.

PDS FAIR SATURDAY
From 10 to 4. Featuring an old-fashioned theme, the Princeton Day School Fair, to be held this Saturday, from 10 to 4.

In addition to all the old favorite booths and activities, there will be a Blue Jean Boutique, featuring renovated, decorated, vintage levis, in many different sizes (though carefully laundered and pressed to remove the shape of the previous owner).

A grand mother's Trunk booth should provide browsing and buying fun for all ages, since it will display those treasured garments of years ago that have become fashionable among the young paraisols, boas, reticules, garden party hats.

A delectable addition to the old-fashioned theme of the Fair this year will be those honest to goodness, old time, goodies, lemons with pepper mint sticks.

Fair chairmen Mrs. William F. Murdoch, Jr. and Mrs. Pierce Lintergan report that they finally tracked the special peppermint sticks down in a tiny town in Maryland.

Mothers Day shoppers will find many ideas for Mom, hand made arts and crafts, hand-made patchwork, plants, or perhaps even a special cake or pie.

There will be pony rides, and a spook house plus the usual gay midway of games and prizes. The Fair is held in and around PDS Rink, just off the Great Road, and all proceeds go to the Day School Scholarship Fund.

CHINA EXPERT TO SPEAK

On Campus This Friday, William Hinton, the American author whose association with the People's Republic of China reaches back to its beginnings in the 1940s, will address his first Princeton audience at a lecture this Friday, at 8 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Whig Hall on the Princeton University Campus.

The lecture is entitled "The Socialist Transformation of China" and is open to the public without charge. The U.S. China Friendship Association in Princeton is a sponsor of the event along with several student organizations, and its members will be meeting with Mr. Hinton who is president of the Association during his visit here.

William Hinton first went to China as a newspaper reporter in 1937. He returned as a staff member of the United States Office of War Information in 1945 and as a technical volunteer with UNRAA in 1947. When this United Nations agency left China, Hinton remained, returning to the United States in 1953.

His book "Fanshen" written in 1953 describes the daily life of Chinese peasants during the revolution. His most recent visit to China was a six month stay during 1971 during which he met with Premier Chou En-Lai. His discussions with participants in the Cultural Revolution are reported in his book "Hundred Day War," published last summer.

TWO ON PROBATION
For Marijuana Possession. Two Princeton men were placed on probation last week by Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. for possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

Wiley H. Critz, 27 Leigh Avenue, was placed on probation for two months with the Mercer County Probation Department. He pleaded guilty.

Also placed on probation for two months with the same agency was Matthew Lenning, 1937 Hall, Princeton University.

On April 4, he was found guilty of possession of under 25 grams of marijuana by Judge Tams and fined $50. Last week, he appeared with his attorney, W.S. Gerald Skey, to have the sentence amended to probation. Judge Tams agreed with the request.

At the end of the two months, if Mr. Lenning fulfills all requirements of his probation, his marijuana arrest will be expunged from the police record.

CRAFTS ARE ADDED

MORE MONEY FOR PHS CHOIR: The Princeton High School choir has invented and executed many unique ways in which to raise money for its pending trip to Europe. One unique way was to deliver sample copies of the Princeton Magazine and Area Fact Book to Borough and Township homes. Above, R. L. Lenhart, Publisher of the Princeton Magazine, delivers a check for $378 to Michael Clohossey, left, and Steve Emmerich members of the High School Choir, for making these deliveries.

The Board also reduced its transportation account by $10,000. Board member Robert C. Duncan, in commenting on this item, stated that it might necessitate an increase in the number of students who will walk to school next year.

The district presently provides transportation for some students living closer to the schools than the distance required by the state. He also indicated that the sidewalks presently being paved by West Windsor Township could also have an effect next year on the number of "walkers". The other cuts approved reduced the amounts available for library books, in-service planning for the high school, musical instruments, office furniture, supplementary instruction, athletic equipment, student activities and salaries for coaches.

FAIR THIS SATURDAY
 In Monmouth Junction. The Piccadilly Fair, sponsored by the Monmouth Junction PTA, will be held this Saturday, rain or shine, from 11:30 to 4 p.m.

The South Brunswick High School Band will kick it off marching at 10:45 a.m. from Slouts Lane and Ridge Road to the Monmouth Junction Elementary School, where the event will be held. In case of rain, activities will be held inside the school.

There will be a flea market for adults, a rock band to entertain teenagers and 10 games such as clown toss; gold rush; leg nailing; (the shoot) for the whole family. Other special attractions include Piccadilly Puppets; Twirl-A-Paint; Mrs. Pockets; and pony rides.

Raffles, made possible by the contributions of area merchants, include a red bicycle and a framed painting. There are some 30 prizes to win in all.

"The committee has been doing its 'sun dance' hoping to insure a beautiful day for the Fair, but should it rain, Piccadilly will not be postponed. We'll simply move outside activities inside the school," explained the co-chairwomen. "We're hoping all families in South Brunswick and surrounding areas will join us in making Piccadilly a total community event."

The Fair is scheduled to conclude at 4:00 p.m.

$60,000 IS CUT

From W. Windsor Budget. The West Windsor Plainsboro Regional School Board, at its regular monthly meeting held last week at the Maurier Hawk School approved cuts in its 1973-74 school budget totaling $60,000. The reduction was mandated by the Commissioner of Education after the district voters rejected the 1973-74 school budget which had been adopted by the Board.

Among those items cut were the district's summer school enrichment program. This, along with a reduction in the number of contingency teachers planned for next year, amounted to $21,250.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you
By John Bernard

Most weekend golfers have trouble on various holes and get bad scores—but did you ever wonder what was the worst score ever made by a professional on one hole in a tournament? The record is held by Tommy Armour. In the 1927 Shawnee Open, he took a 21 on one hole! Armour had better luck that same year, however, because he won the National Open that season. It proves how inconsistent golfers can be — both the weekend golfers, and the pros.

Here's quite an oddity from baseball. The man who holds the record for scoring the most runs in one major league game — Guy Hecker — was, of all things, a pitcher. You'd think the man who held the record for scoring the most runs in one game would have been an infielder, outfielder or catcher, but pitcher Guy Hecker set the all-time record when he scored 7 times in one game in 1886 and nobody has ever topped that.

Here's an amazing fact. Did you ever realize that big league baseball and football teams can play 50 years and not draw as many people as can see them in JUST ONE DAY on television! Let's say a team's home attendance averages 1 million people a year. Thus, they could play 50 years and draw a total of 50 million fans. But ONE game on TV can draw more than 50 million viewers in one afternoon, so a team can play to more people on TV in one game than they can draw in their own stadiums for over 50 years.

150-lb. Crew Hopes to Become Best in East

Princeton's 150-lb. crew, very likely the last entry in the annual spring sports derby to draw spectator attention in the Sunday papers — to say nothing of the lightly-attended races on Saturdays — is the best of the Tiger teams as this abbreviated season winds down.

In the face of an uncertain future for rowing at a number of colleges, Princeton and Yale in particular, the 'fifties last week won major honors for themselves on the meandering Housatonic River near Derby, Conn. Edging Harvard by little more than a matter of inches, and by a slim two-fifths of a second on the stopwatch, Princeton's oarsmen won the Goldthwait Cup for the first time in 15 years and in so doing brought to an end a string of 28 consecutive victories recorded by Harvard.

The winning time of 5:39.1, a course record for the Housatonic made possible by the current and a strong following wind, was nonetheless extremely unusual for a 150-lb. crew racing over 2,000 meters. A finishing sprint at 39 strokes to the minute erased a half-length Harvard lead and brought the Princeton shell in by a fraction of a deck length.

Yale was third, more than four lengths behind. Princeton's Jayvees also defeated Harvard, by one-fifth of a second. The Crimson freshmen prevailed by two-fifths of a second in a regatta rarely matched for the narrow margin of the victories.

This weekend, the Tiger lightweight will seek to become the first Princeton varsity since 1957 to win an Eastern sprint title. They'll be seeded first for the annual races on Lake Quinsigamond at Worcester, but it will take a superb performance on their part to defeat Harvard' fine shell two weeks in a row.

Princeton's heavyweight varsity will also be at Worcester, but has not won this spring and is unlikely to qualify for the six-boat final. In five outings this spring, Princeton has defeated only Columbia while trailing Penn in the Childs Cup regatta.

The unlucky Tigers appeared to be ready to win the Carnegie Cup here Saturday but their lead with 500 meters left evaporated when they caught a crab. Cornell overtook them with ease, winning by better than a length from Yale and by nearly three from Princeton. Kansas State was some six lengths behind.

BALL TEAM STUMBLES
Well Out of League Race. Another weekend in which it lost two out of three games it home killed off any long-shot chance Princeton's baseball team had of finishing near the top of the Eastern League race. The Tigers were blanked by Yale Friday, 3-0, and lost the first game Saturday to Brown, 6-1, before topping the Bruins, 4-1, in the nightcap.

During the three-game span, Princeton completed 19 innings while managing to score only a single run. The team batting average is around .185 and one of the two catchers who have been alternating behind the plate hasn't had a hit all year.

No better than 11.13 as the week's action began, Princeton is in trouble despite both ability and depth in pitching — a factor often considered to be about 80 percent of the strength of a college ball team. Last week, for example, the Tigers' five starters all had earned run averages between 2 and 3, but the team had averaged less than two runs in its last nine games, and that just isn't sufficient to win under most circumstances.

Yale pitcher Bob Corcoran simply overwhelmed them scattering four singles and allowing only one runner to reach second. The Elis threatened constantly, winning when they scored twice in the sixth and added another in the eighth. The losers again committed the sin of a punchless ball team, making as many misplays as they did hits. In fact, losing pitcher Randy Blewins' .267 average at the plate is the highest on the Tiger roster.

Bob Huot of Brown was no better than 1-4 on the year but he tamed Princeton with ease in the opener Saturday. Bill Copridge took the 6-1 loss, with sophomore Scott Mellenry working in relief.

The Tigers gained an even split on the day when Steve Trandall gave them superb pitching in the second game and finally got an offense in support of his work. He had a no-hitter going into the top of the seventh when a shot over second landed out of everyone's reach. Eventually, he yielded another hit and lost his shutout but the 4-1 triumph marked Princeton's first over Brown in four years.

First baseman Ken Beylin ended a prolonged slump in this contest, driving in three of the victors' runs with a pair of timely singles. Princeton's three-run cluster in the fourth was its highest scoring outburst in more than a month.

Second baseman John Cullinane, who had been leading the league in stolen bases with seven, saw his advantage vanish to Brown shortstop Bill Almon. The Bruin infielder pilfered four at Columbia Friday and was successful on two of three tries here to run his sea-

SEASON NEARS END

For Tiger Lacrosse Team. Almost able to beat highly-regarded Army at West Point, but unable to cope with a 1-9 Harvard team here, Princeton's lacrosse team will conclude its season Saturday at Ithaca.

Cornell, the ousted defending Ivy champion, will play host to the Tigers in their final game of the year. Brown, a 9-7 victor over Penn last week, is expected to win the 1973 title by making Dartmouth its sixth victim this weekend.

Trailing, 7-3, at Army last week, the Orange and Black jammed five goals into the cadets' cage in less than four minutes, to take an 8-7 lead. The fourth-quarter problems that have plagued the Tigers all spring returned, however, and a home team rally resulted in a 10-9 final.

Victor in its first game over MIT but beaten nine straight times thereafter, Harvard was never headed on Finney Field last Saturday. The Crimson jumped out to a 3-0 lead, fell back to a 3-all tie but then dominated the action for the rest of the afternoon.

Harvard took a 10-5 margin into the final quarter, holding Princeton to three goals for a 10-8 triumph. Jon Pettit and Billy Chaires paced the losers with three apiece and goalie Bill Cronin scored for the second time this year, but game-long defensive problems were more than the Tigers could surmount.

IRON MIKES TRIP PHS

Bobby King Takes Loss. A chance for the Princeton High School baseball team to win two in a row and for hurler Bobby King to win his first were denied Monday afternoon by St. Anthony.

The home team Iron Mikes defeated the Little Tigers and King, 4-2, scoring three runs in the first inning, two of them unearned. King is 0-3, PHS 2-7.

PHS will engage in two Mercer County league games next, visiting Hamilton Friday and entertaining Notre Dame Tuesday at 3:45. Both have recorded wins over the Little Tigers earlier this season.

PHS scored one run in the fourth when Boh Zinsmeister singled home Mike Diamond who had also singled. In the sixth, consecutive singles by Zinsmeister, Steve Kopp and John Mooney produced the Inners' second run. Jeff Galle also had a hit off winning pitcher Nick Mavari (2-3) of St. Anthony.

King was touched for only three hits but he was the victim of six walks and seven errors by his teammates. St. Anthony's record is 5-6-2.

Jayses Win The PHS Jayses nine defeated Hun, 9-4, as David Male, making his first appearance, got credit for the win.

Pete Watson and Dan Seitz, both had two hits and two RBIs for the victors. Princeton's record is 2-4.

HUN NINE BOLLS ON

6-0 In League Play. The Hun School baseball team, 8-1, should wrap up its third Penn-Jersey divisional title this week.

Coach Bill McQuade's sluggers will be at George School Thursday and Princeton Day Monday at 3:30. This Wednesday they were scheduled to play Pennington at home.

"If we can beat Pennington this Wednesday," said McQuade, "I think we can wrap it up." Pennington with two league losses and a tie is Hun's closest pursuer in Penn-Jersey's northern division.

Pennington, remarked McQuade, has been getting by with its pitching. "They have two boys who throw real hard, but they haven't been able to break open any games yet."

Hun, in contrast, has been breaking games open with a murderers' row at the plate. The most recent victim last week was Academy of New Church which fell, 16-1. "Perfect" Paul Creamer (7-0) tossed a one-hitter.

At the plate, Greg Rafalski drove in two runs with a triple in one official at-bat. He is batting .570. Centerfielder Dave Pone was 3-for-4. He is batting .450. Tony Trani (over 400) had two hits in three appearances, while outfielder Bob McHugh also teed off on the New Church pitching for three hits.

"We're halfway through the schedule," observed McQuade, who added the second half would be tougher.

Friday's game with Admiral Farragut was postponed 'til May 21 because of the weather. A Saturday contest with Pingry had to be rescheduled.

ERRORS HURT PDS NINE

In 2 Losses Last Week. Unsteady fielding killed good pitching last week, as the Princeton Day baseball team lost games to Friends Central and Wardlaw, dropping the Panthers under the .500 mark at 3-4-1.

Last Wednesday, PDS hurler Glen Russo gave up just three hits, while striking out eight, but lost a 3-0 decision, when his mates let in three unearned runs, and could not produce any scoring themselves.

Errors on ground balls, dropped third strikes and wild throws all contributed to the Blue and White's downfall as Friends Central was given one run in the third and two more in the fourth. PDS, meanwhile could manage just four hits, as the Friends Central pitcher struck out 10.

Friday, the PDS offense, picked up to the point where men were getting on base more often, but pushing runs across became a problem

Wardlaw got a single run in the first again, an unearned one, and PDS tied it in the third on a double by Mike Stix and a single by Bill Baggett. This proved to be all the scoring that the Blue and White could muster, as it was grand opportunities in the fourth and fifth, loading the bases with one out both times.

Mark Ellsworth pitched well through five innings, allowing just two hits and two runs, but the visitors broke open a 2-1 contest in the sixth, scoring four insurance runs.

This Wednesday PDS was scheduled to play at George School, Friday it will meet Pennington Prep at home.

PETE LUOLUM plays defense on the Princeton High School lacrosse team which is trying for its first winning season under coach Marv Trotman. He is a senior.

FINAL STRETCH AHEAD

For PHS Lacrosse Team. How well the Princeton High School lacrosse team fares in three games this week will determine whether the Little Tigers will be able to live up to coach Marvin Trotman's prediction of his first winning season in the sport. After defeating Hun and losing to Hunterdon Central last week, the Blue and White is 3-1.

PHS will entertain Hanover Park Saturday at 2, play Livingston Day School Monday at 3:30 on the latter's field and, in its final home game of the season, play host to Livingston Wednesday at 3:30.

This Wednesday afternoon it was scheduled to travel to Hightstown for a match with Peddie. After the Livingston game only the finale with Newton remains. The Little Tigers face a formidable task; they must win four of the last five if Trotman is to have that winning season.

Friday, Trotman watched in dismay as the visiting Red Devils from Hunterdon Central made the Little Tigers their ninth victim in 10 games, winning easily, 4-1. After the game, Trotman promised to make some changes in the lineup.

"We tried to outmuscle them. We should have passed the ball around and used a little more finesse that's what we did against Hun," commented Trotman.

"Our guys didn't want to play; they just stand around," Trotman ascribed the lethargy on the team to the "Princeton syndrome."

Hunterdon scored four times in the first period to take a commanding lead, adding three more in the final period. Richard Maguire led the visitors attack with four goals and an assist.

Bob McKluskey scored Princeton's lone goal in the third period on a nice corner pass assist from Ted Baruch.

Bolster Scores Three. Midfielder Jim Bolster enjoyed his best offensive game of the season, scoring three times to lead PHS to a 9-3 victory over Hun last week at Hun. Bobby Weisbecker had two goals. Adding single tallies for PHS were Dave Gates, Ronnie Campbell, Mace Mohrmann and Baruch. Goalie Keith Rendall had 14 saves. PHS scored a pair in each of the first three periods to take a 6-3 lead.

Bill Mills scored twice for Hun and Jack Reeder once to account for Huns three goals.

2-MILE RECORD SET

By Pete Nichols. For the first time, a Princeton High School runner has completed two miles under ten minutes.

Pete Nichols set a PHS record Monday afternoon running against visiting St. Thomas Aquinas (7-2) when he was clocked in 9:58.9 in the event. The previous record of 10:09.3 was set in 1968 by Keith Lawder.

It was a day of firsts for PHS, which won its third dual meet in seven starts, 77-54. Co-captain Mike Cuda took the half mile in 2:02.9 — his best time ever — and Craig Carlton, the other Blue and White co-captain, ran his best of the season in the 400, winning the event in 52.2. He also placed first in the high hurdles (15.9).

Ironically, John Woodside, previously unbeaten in the mile in dual meet competition, came up with his best performance of the season — a 4:37.2 clocking — but still finished second. The winning time was 4:36.1.

Drury Is Double Winner. Lou Drury, probably the most prolific scorer for coach Larry Ivan's thinclads, won the discus and the 100-yard dash. Mike White won the low hurdles (22.8), Mark McLean the pole vault (10-0) and Richard Guzy the javelin (150.7).

Billy Alexander won the shot put again with a toss of 48-6. Alexander, who has broken 50 feet, is considered the top putter in the County.

The Long Branch Relays, scheduled for Saturday, have been postponed.

In dual meet action, the Little Tigers will oppose Hopewell Valley High School Thursday in Pennington and then take on powerful Ewing on Monday at the Blue Devils' field.

RELAYS ARE NEXT

For PHS Girls Track Team, Lamont Fletcher, coach of the Princeton High School girls track team, will enter two teams in the annual Long Branch Relays Saturday.

Competing for PHS will be a mile and seven eighths team comprised of Kathy Woodbridge, Karen Winn, Diane Westover, Dani Bullock or Grace McEwen, and a mile relay team of Jane Frazier, Sandy Cobb, Francis Walstad and Karen Winn.

On Monday, PHS will be at Toms River North and at Franklin Township on Wednesday. Both are dual meets.

Friday, PHS defeated visiting Rancocas Valley for the second straight year. 66.48 Grace McEwen hurled the javelin 96 feet, one-half inch for a new PHS record, breaking the old school mark which she also held.

Karen Herzog won the hurdles in 16.7 for her best time of the year. Coach Fletcher remarked that after a shaky start this season, the veteran hurdler (this is her third year) has overcome her poor start and "her times are steadily coming down." Karen also won the long jump with a leap of 13.10.

Another double winner was Sandy Cobb, who won the 400 in 68.0 and the high jump with a 46 effort. Diane Westover won the mile, while Karen Winn finished second in the 200.

Debbie Brooks was second in the shot and discus.

Earlier, PHS dropped its first dual meet of the year to Delaware Valley, 72-42.

Herzog (hurdles), Winn (400), Westover (mile) and Woodbridge (880) captured firsts for PHS.

BIG TEST MONDAY

For PHS Tennis Team, one of the biggest games of the Princeton High School tennis team's schedule will be played Monday at 3:30 when the Little Tigers make the short trip to the Great Road to play rival Princeton Day School. Before the season, PHS coach Bill Hume, ranked the Panthers as one of the two strongest teams on the Little Tiger schedule.

Friday, PHS will be at Hopewell Valley High School, next Wednesday it will play host to Trenton (3:30), while this Wednesday it was scheduled to oppose Ewing at the Ewing High School courts.

Last week, the Little Tigers blanked Lawrence High School 5-0. Winning singles matches were David Loy, Robbie McDougald and Randy Thomas. Dick Broad and Nick Van de Walle won the number one singles, while the freshmen pairing of Dan Schulman and Dan Aronovic, whom Hume described as his "future stars", captured the number two doubles.

IN SPRINT MEDLEY: Mary Lou Krueger was part of the sprint medley team for PHS which ran against Rancocas Valley Friday. Only a freshman, she will enter the new West Windsor High School next fall.

PDS NETMEN UPSET

By Pingry, Friday was a gray day for everyone, particularly Princeton Day School's previously undefeated tennis team, as it was upset by Pingry School 3-2. Earlier in the week PDS took Pennsylvania High School 4-1.

It marked the first time this season the Panther netmen had lost more than one individual contest in a match, the first time number two singles star Greg Bash had lost a set, let alone a match. Bash suffered the key upset, losing in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1.

Evan Bash, playing first singles, romped 6-4, 6-1, and the first doubles pair of Buzz Woodworth and Steve Norris won 7-6, 6-3.

Chris Miller, playing third singles for the Blue and White, dropped his match 6-4, 6-4, and the second doubles combination of David Straut and Jamie Paterson lost 6-2, 6-3.

The tennis team is now 6-1 for the season, and plays George School Wednesday.

PDS STICKMEN SPLIT

Butgers Prep Next. Rebounding sloppily from their second defeat of the season Wednesday, Princeton Day Schools lacrosse team squeaked by Pingry "B" Friday 4-2.

 running its record to 6-3 at midseason.
 Earlier, Hunterdon Central High School, third ranked among the state's A teams, put together good second and third quarters to drub the Panthers 10-2.

Playing Friday with only limited service from top midfielder Cam Ferrante, who suffered a muscle pull early in the Hunterdon Central game, PDS had trouble putting together a consistent effort. Ferrante, used only on man up plays against Pingry, scored a pair of goals. His brother Gray scored another, and middle John Bragg got the fourth.

The best PDS effort of the game, played on rain-slicked field in Hillside, was one three minute stretch in the last period when they played with two men in the penalty box and held Pingry scoreless.

The Panthers will try to even things with George School this Wednesday. George took the first of this year's home-and-home series 6-5 in the second game of the season. Friday the Blue and White will meet Rutgers Prep at home.

BIKE RACE SATURDAY

40 Laps Around PHS Campus. Forty of the fastest bike riders in the East will visit Princeton Saturday to participate in an amateur bike race — one of the latest-growing participatory sports in the country.

The race, consisting of 40 laps around the Princeton High School campus, will begin at 4 on Walnut Lane between PHS and John Witherspoon School. Five Olympians and two National champions are among the 40 specially-invited entrants, who will be battling for the first prize of a professional racing bike

Baseball Tryouts Sunday

Boys with birth dates on or after August 1, 1961 are eligible to attend tryouts for the Post 76 American Legion Baseball team this Sunday.

All interested candidates for the team should report to the Princeton High School baseball field at 11 a.m. Co-managers Charles Pesce and John Wagner will conduct the session with assistance from Jim Koplner.

worth several hundred dollars that has been provided by Raleigh Industries and Travelers Insurance Company.

The Princeton-based Century Road Club of America is sponsoring the race, and most of its top riders will compete. Among them are two Munich Olympians, John Allis, a graduate of Princeton University, and David Chauner, who lives here.

Saturday's race is a criterium or closed circuit race. The winner will be determined on the basis of points gained during eight sprints held after every five laps — a style demanding on the cyclist but exciting for the spectator.

FINAL TRYOUTS SET

For West Windsor League. Final tryouts for the West Windsor Babe Ruth Baseball League will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 19, on the Maurice Hawk School field.

The league is open to all West Windsor and Plainsboro boys 13 to 15 years old. Boys who were not regular members of one of the four teams last year must try out to be eligible to play this season.

In case of rain on May 19, call Morton D. Levine, league president, at 799-0631 for an alternate tryout date. League play will open on the Hawk School field on Friday evening, June 1.

FINAL ROUND DUE

In Springdale Golf, it will be Maurice Coffie against Lyle Fitch in the finals of the President's Cup tournament at Springdale Golf Club. In an 18-hole match, Coffie with a handicap of 23 will receive six strokes from Fitch at 17. Last weekend, Fitch won from Kline Fulmer and Bob Forrey by identical scores of 4 and 3. Forrey reached the semi-finals with a 1-up victory over Dan Hall.

Coffie eliminated Hal Moran, 3 and 1, and Jack Mudge, 1 up. Mudge won Saturday from Ralph Allaire by the same margin.

GIRLS WIN, LOSE

In PHS Softball. The Princeton High School girls softball team split its last two games to run its record to 4-3.

The Little Tigerettes lost a see-saw 14-13 game to Lawrence High and had the bases loaded in the final inning when the final out was made. Earlier, in perhaps its best-played game of the season, PHS defeated Notre Dame, 13-9.

Lacrosse Team, 3-0. The PHS girls lacrosse team, coached by Betty Hewel and Joyce Jones, has won its first three games without a defeat.

Sue Cassard is goalie and captain of the team. Heidi Faith is the leading scorer while Donna Nichols is jaycee captain.

"Masters" last weekend made a strong showing at the East Coast Masters Invitational Meet at Dillon Pool. Over 30 teams were represented as the large aggregation of swimmers from the District of Columbia Masters Swim Club won the team competition.

The 40-44 age group offered some of the fastest overall competition with three PAA swimmers earning 11 medals. Tink Bolster took three golds: 1650 freestyle (37:25.1); 200 freestyle (3:07.4); and 1500 free (8:16.6). She also captured two silver medals in the 200 Individual Medley (3:23.7) and 200 breast stroke (3:36.4).

John Stone, former Princeton University record holder in the freestyle sprints, lowered his best time in the 50 yard freestyle to 25.0 with a second place and another silver in the 100 yard freestyle (57.8); he also placed third in the 100 yard backstroke with 1:14.9. Ed Breisacher, Stone's teammate on the Princeton '52-53 Varsity, swam to a first place in the 100 yard breaststroke (1:16), and a silver medal in the 1650 freestyle (22:13). Swimming the 100 yard individual medley for the first time, Breisacher took a bronze medal in 1:07.9, faster than last year's best national time in the event.

Swimmers in the 25-29 age group were David Benbasset, who earned a third place bronze medal in the 500 yard freestyle (5:49.7), and John Kalmbach with a second place silver in the 100 butterfly (1:09.5).

Mike Mahoney (30-34) swam to a first place gold medal in the 200 yard backstroke in 2:39.3, and a third in the 100 Individual Medley (1:09.5). In the 35-39 group, Jack Ferguson won a bronze medal in the 50 yard freestyle (31:0).

Kay Lasby, swimming in the 45-49 age group, earned two silver medals: 50 yard free (37.4) and 100 yard backstroke (1:39).

Sports in Princeton

EIGHT RECORDS SET

In Junior Olympic Meet. Eight new records were established Saturday when the third annual AAU Junior Olympic Track Meet was held at the Princeton High School field. The Recreation Department runs the event.

Only one old mark fell to the boys. Jon Miller of 31 Herontown Circle set a new record in the long jump with his leap of 14-10— a whopping 11 inches better than Tony Opperman's 1972 distance.

The girls set three new marks in the running events. Michelle Broadway bettered her 50 yard dash mark of last year with a 5.8 clocking, and Sally McEwen erased Denise Bullock's 13.0 mark in the 100 yard dash with a 12.9 effort. She also anchored the 12-13 year old 410 relay team, which set a new record of 6:03. Others on the team were Joanne Rice, Linda Edwards and Marie Sheehan.

Other record breakers were Dorothy Dyson in the junior long jump, Susie Gates in the banian standing long jump, and Marsha Grace in the junior high jump.

Lifeguards Wanted

The Princeton Recreation Department is looking for highly qualified lifeguards — preferably male — for the Community Park Pools. Positions are available for both weekdays and weekends.

Applicants should have an active Water Safety Instructor's certificate or three seasons of pool experience and be at least 18. For additional information, call the recreation office, 921-9480.

BALL TEAM LOSES

To Seton Hall. The first of four scheduled road games this week went against Princeton's baseball team Monday at South Orange when it lost to Seton Hall, 4 to 2.

The Tigers had a 2-1 lead in the top of the fourth after shortstop Steve Brown doubled home both Princeton runs. Sophomore Scott McHenry ran into a wild streak in the home half of the inning, however, and the Pirates regained the advantage, 3 to 2. Both Bob Harding and Bill Coppedge went in relief.

Despite Tuesday's rain, the Tigers played and won at New Brunswick, topping Rutgers, 4-2, behind seven good innings from Randy Blevins. He went into the eighth with a 4-0 lead but needed solid relief work from Steve Crandall to preserve the victory.

Doubles by Ken Beytin and George Cummings in the fourth and fifth saw each man complete the circuit for a Princeton run. In the sixth, Steve Brown tripled the third Tiger tally home and scored a moment later on a fielder's choice. The outcome set the Princeton book for the spring at 12-14, with four, and possibly five games left.

Thursday will find the Orange and Black in Philadelphia to play Temple, The Eastern League season will end Saturday against Navy at Annapolis, unless it is necessary for Princeton to go to Cambridge for a make-up contest next Wednesday against Harvard. The Crimson can win the 1973 title outright if it trims Cornell Friday and gains at least an even break with Army Saturday.

How much you save by dialing direct is a matter of timing.

You always save on long distance calls by dialing direct* without operator assistance. And, if you dial direct on the weekends or after 5 p.m. on weekdays, you save even more.

How much more? Let's compare rates for a three-minute call dialed direct from New Jersey to Los Angeles. During daytime hours—8 a.m. to 5 p.m.—you pay $1.45. But after 5 p.m. you only pay 85¢. And on the weekends (till 5 p.m. Sunday) all you pay is 70¢.

So the next time you call long distance, dial it yourself. And wait until bargain calling times to do it.

New Jersey Bell

*Direct dialing rates do not apply to operator-assisted calls such as credit card, collect, third number billed, person-to-person and coin phone calls to other states.

STUDENTS ARE LEARNING About Donating Blood. Eight teen-year-old high school students from area high schools are participating in a drive sponsored by Red Cross Youth of the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross, to teach them the need for volunteer blood donors.

Students have seen a movie called "Blood Is Life, Pass It On" which illustrates how many people are unaware of the need for volunteer blood, and how easily it is really given. Then they have their blood typed by a Red Cross Volunteer Nurse at the school.

The next week they give at the Medical Center, depending on their type of blood. So far, the drive has taken place in Montgomery and East Windsor Regional schools, and 26 and 12 donors respectively have joined the program.

Almost 20 have already given their first pint of blood when the need arose for their type. Beginning May 10, seniors at Princeton High School will be asked to join the program. On Monday, May 14, they will have their blood typed, then be ready to go to the Medical Center when needed.

HUNTER COURSE LISTED

By Township Police. The 14th annual hunter safety course for those 10 or older who wish to obtain their initial hunting licenses will be sponsored by the Princeton Patrolmen's Benevolent Association under the direction of Twp. Plt. Walter V. Emann.

The course will consist of one four-hour course on Saturday, a two-hour course next Friday evening and a final four-hour course next Saturday morning. All will be given at the Citizens Rifle and Revolver Club on the Princeton-Hightstown Road.

Those who successfully complete the course will be awarded the certificate required by the state for the purchase of a firearms hunting license.

Applications are available from Mrs. Mary Mount, 135 Herbert Avenue, Hamilton

... Off the Old Block

"Let the chips fall where they may" used to be the Township's attitude. No longer: where the chips fall, the householder will now pay $5 per four-cubic-yard truckload.

Chips ground out by the Township's chopper have always been free for the asking to Township gardeners and landscape artists. But the demand is outstripping the supply so the municipality decided Monday night, in an action laden with "whereas" clauses, to make the $5 charge. The new fee is expected to add about $300 to the Township woodpile.

If you want to be put on the wood-chip waiting list, call the engineer's office, 931-7077

Square, N. J. Her phone number is 587-6078. Applications must be filled out and signed by a parent or guardian and brought to the first class. Enrollment is on a first come, first served basis.

Additional information may be obtained from Borough, Township or West Windsor police.

CHORAL FESTIVAL SET

By Area Schools. On Sunday evening at 7 p.m. in The Lawrenceville School Chapel, the choirs of Stuart Country Day, St. Mary's Hill, Hun School, Princeton Day School and The Lawrenceville School will join together for the annual Independent Schools Choral Festival.

The 130-voice Festival Choir and Orchestra, under the direction of Greg Goida of The Hun School will perform Vivaldi's "Gloria" and Norman Dello Joio's "Song of the Open Road." It is open to the public free of charge.

The Vivaldi work features student soloists Elizabeth Chal-lener and Katie Clark of Stuart Country Day, Jane Schwab of Hun, Wendy Cohen and Julie Sly of Princeton Day School. The "Song of the Open Road" utilizes the talents of Hun and Lawrenceville faculty members Betty Goida—piano, and Joe Scannella—trumpet.
